The true first publication of the novel was as a weekly serial in The Times, including the maps of the house and other illustrations included in the book. This novel was one of the first ten books published by Penguin Books when it began in 1935. This first mystery novel by Agatha Christie was well received by reviewers. An analysis in 1990 was positive about the plot, considering the novel one of the few by Christie that is well anchored in time and place, a story that knows it describes the end of an era and mentions that the plot is clever. Christie had not mastered cleverness in her first novel as too many clues tend to cancel each other out; this was judged a difficulty which Conan Doyle never satisfactorily overcame but which Christie would. The story opens in England during the First World War at Styles Court, an Essex country manor. Upon her husband's death, the wealthy widow Emily Cavendish inherited a life estate in Styles as well as the outright inheritance of the larger part of the late Mr Cavendish's income.
