In the Handbook of World Families Bert Adams and Jan Trost two of the leading scholars in the field of comparative family studies have masterfully edited a book that comparatively examines families from 25 nations located around the world The chapter contributors have both theoretical and research knowledge as well as lived experiences of respective nation s families The result is a well written highly informed and authoritative handbook that investigates an extensive range of family issues from local national and global perspectives Mark Hutter Rowan University

The Anthropology of Sport and Human Movement Robert R. Sands, Linda R. Sands, 2010-10-11 The evolution of the human species has always been closely tied to the relationship between biology and culture and the human condition is rooted in this fascinating intersection Sport games and competition serve as a nexus for humanity's innate fixation on movement and social activity and these activities have served throughout history to encourage the proliferation of human culture for any number of exclusive or inclusive motivations money fame health spirituality or social and cultural solidarity The study of anthropology as presented in Anthropology of Sport and Human Movement provides a scope that offers a critical and discerning perspective on the complex calculus involving human biological and cultural variation that produces human movement and performance Each chapter of this compelling collection resonates with the theme of a tightly woven relationship of biology and culture of evolutionary implications and contemporary biological and cultural expression

Expanding Perspectives on Human Rights in Africa M. Raymond Izarali, Oliver Masakure, Bonny Ibhawoh, 2019-03-14 This book draws attention to emerging issues around the rights of minorities marginalized groups and persons in Africa It explores the gaps between human rights provisions and conditions showing that although international human rights principles have been embraced in the continent various minority groups and marginalized persons are denied such rights through criminalization and persecution African countries have a good record of signing and ratifying international and regional rights instruments but the political will and capacity for enforcing these with respect to minorities remain weak International contributors to the book provide new perspectives on the rights of marginalized and minority groups in different parts of Africa and the extent to which they are deprived or denied entitlement to the universality and equality articulated in law The authors show that human rights while having come of age as a moral ideal has not been fully entrenched in practice towards groups such as children indigenous populations the mentally ill persons with disabilities and persons with albinism This volume is geared toward scholars students human rights groups policy makers social workers international organizations and policy makers in the fields of criminology security studies development studies political science sociology children studies social psychology international relations postcolonial studies and African Studies
