Speech & Language Processing Dan Jurafsky, 2000-09 Mathematical Foundations of Speech and Language Processing Mark Johnson, Sanjeev P. Khudanpur, Mari Ostendorf, Roni Rosenfeld, 2012-12-06 Speech and language technologies continue to grow in importance as they are used to create natural and efficient interfaces between people and machines and to automatically transcribe extract analyze and route information from high volume streams of spoken and written information The workshops on Mathematical Foundations of Speech Processing and Natural Language Modeling were held in the Fall of 2000 at the University of Minnesota s NSF sponsored

Institute for Mathematics and Its Applications as part of a Mathematics in Multimedia year long program Each workshop brought together researchers in the respective technologies on the one hand and mathematicians and statisticians on the other hand for an intensive week of cross fertilization There is a long history of benefit from introducing mathematical techniques and ideas to speech and language technologies Examples include the source channel paradigm hidden Markov models decision trees exponential models and formal languages theory It is likely that new mathematical techniques or novel applications of existing techniques will once again prove pivotal for moving the field forward This volume consists of original contributions presented by participants during the two workshops Topics include language modeling prosody acoustic phonetic modeling and statistical methodology

Lexicon Development for Speech and Language Processing Frank Van Eynde, 2014-11-14 This work offers a survey of methods and techniques for structuring acquiring and maintaining lexical resources for speech and language processing The first chapter provides a broad survey of the field of computational lexicography introducing most of the issues terms and topics which are addressed in more detail in the rest of the book The next two chapters focus on the structure and the content of man made lexicons concentrating respectively on morpho syntactic and morpho phonological information Both chapters adopt a declarative constraint based methodology and pay ample attention to the various ways in which lexical generalizations can be formalized and exploited to enhance the consistency and to reduce the redundancy of lexicons A complementary perspective is offered in the next two chapters which present techniques for automatically deriving lexical resources from text corpora These chapters adopt an inductive data oriented methodology and focus also on methods for tokenization lemmatization and shallow parsing The next three chapters focus on speech synthesis and speech recognition

Introducing Speech and Language Processing John S. Coleman, 2005-03-03 This major new textbook provides a clearly written concise and accessible introduction to speech and language processing Assuming knowledge of only the very basics of linguistics and written specifically for students with no technical background it is the perfect starting point for anyone beginning to study the discipline Student s are shown from an elementary level how to use two programming languages C and Prolog and the accompanying CD ROM contains all the software needed Setting an invaluable foundation for further study this is set to become the leading introduction to the field

Speech and Language Processing: Computational Linguistics and Natural Language Processing Elsa Harrington, 2021-11-16 The interdisciplinary field that deals with the computational modeling of natural language is known as computational linguistics It studies various computational models that are used to answer linguistic questions Some of the theoretical frameworks which are used within this field are linguistic production structural linguistics linguistic comprehension and developmental linguistics The discipline makes use of concepts from other fields such as computer science mathematics philosophy psychology artificial intelligence cognitive psychology psycholinguistics etc The field helps in the development of speech recognition software The objective of this book is to give a general view of the different areas of computational linguistics and its applications. It strives to provide a fair idea about this discipline and to help develop a better understanding of the latest advances within this field. Students, researchers, experts and all associated with speech and language processing will benefit alike from this book.

Pattern Recognition in Speech and Language Processing Wu Chou, Bing-Hwang Juang, 2003-02-26

Over the last 20 years, approaches to designing speech and language processing algorithms have moved from methods based on linguistics and speech science to data-driven pattern recognition techniques. These techniques have been the focus of intense, fast-moving research and have contributed to significant advances in this field. Pattern Recognition in Speech and Language Processing offers a systematic, up-to-date presentation of these recent developments. It begins with the fundamentals and recent theoretical advances in pattern recognition with emphasis on classifier design criteria and optimization procedures. The focus then shifts to the application of these techniques to speech processing with chapters exploring advances in applying pattern recognition to real speech and audio processing systems. The final section of the book examines topics related to pattern recognition in language processing topics that represent promising new trends with direct impact on information processing systems for the Web, broadcast news, and other content-rich information resources. Each self-contained chapter includes figures, tables, diagrams, and references. The collective effort of experts at the forefront of the field, Pattern Recognition in Speech and Language Processing offers in-depth, insightful discussions on new developments and contains a wealth of information integral to the further development of human-machine communications.

Computational Paralinguistics Björn Schuller, Anton Batliner, 2013-12-04

This book presents the methods, tools, and techniques that are currently being used to recognise automatically the affect, emotion, personality, and everything else beyond linguistics, paralinguistics expressed by or embedded in human speech and language. It is the first book to provide such a systematic survey of paralinguistics in speech and language processing. The technology described has evolved mainly from automatic speech and speaker recognition and processing but also takes into account recent developments within speech signal processing, machine intelligence, and data mining. Moreover, the book offers a hands-on approach by integrating actual data sets, software, and open-source utilities which will make the book invaluable as a teaching tool and similarly useful for those professionals already in the field.

Key features:

- Provides an integrated presentation of basic research in phonetics, linguistics, and humanities with state-of-the-art engineering approaches for speech signal processing and machine intelligence.
- Explains the history and state-of-the-art of all of the sub-fields which contribute to the topic of computational paralinguistics.
- Covers the signal processing and machine learning aspects of the actual computational modelling of emotion and personality and explains the detection process from corpus collection to feature extraction and from model testing to system integration.
- Details aspects of real-world system integration including distribution, weakly supervised learning, and confidence measures.
- Outlines machine learning approaches including static, dynamic, and context-sensitive algorithms for classification and regression.
- Includes a tutorial on freely available toolkits such as the open source openEAR toolkit for emotion and affect recognition co developed by one of the authors and a listing of standard databases and feature sets used in the field to allow for immediate experimentation enabling the reader to build an emotion detection model on an existing corpus
