Growing Up : A Story of the Girlhood of Judith Mackenzie Jennie M. Drinkwater, Growing Up A Story of the Girlhood of Judith Mackenzie I was not sure whether it were to write a book or to teach or to go as a foreign missionary I think I hoped it would be the foreign missionary because that was the most self sacrificing The book was all one great joy The teaching was absorbing but I must go away to study I was afraid to go away I did not like to go away from Bensalem I would miss my mother away from Bensalem and you and all the parsonage and the whole village But I thought I was called as called as Roger was to preach or any woman saint or heroine who had done a great thing You cannot think what it was to me It made me old I wanted God to speak out of Heaven and tell me what to do It began to lose its selfishness after that The first thing that began to shake my confidence was something Mrs Lane said that afternoon she talked to Jean and me about what women were doing and could do She did not make woman's work attractive she took the heart out of me I did not know why she should do that I knew better all the time I knew what women had done and were doing I knew she was doing a noble work literary work work in prisons temperance work the instances she gave me seemed trivial as if she were laughing at me But something opened my eyes I felt that I might be disobedient to my heavenly vision that I was looking up into the heavens for my call and the voice might be all the time in my ear That was the night I came back here and found you so cozy and satisfied under your own roof tree with the voice in your ear and the work in your hand The world went away from me I stayed I am glad I stayed My only trouble is and it is a real trouble that God did not care for my purpose or my prayers that he has let them go as if they never entered into his mind I thought they were in his heart as well as mine     The Galaxy William Conant Church,1876     The Young Woman's Journal ,1894     The Home-maker Marion Harland,1890     The Vassar Miscellany ,1900     The Eclectic Magazine of Foreign Literature, Science, and Art ,1879     Elsie's girlhood, by Martha Farquharson Martha Finley,1886     The New Monthly Magazine ,1879     The Budget story books Budget story books,1897     Littell's Living Age Eliakim Littell,Robert S. Littell,1889     Middlemarch, Etc George Eliot,1873

The People's Home Journal ,1921     Song of the Bellbirds Anne McCullagh Rennie,2013-01-15 From the steps of the Sydney Opera House came international acclaim but at a price All young Lizzy wants to do is sing ride the boundaries of her family's Queensland property and dream of one day performing on stage But when a freak storm hits the area wreaking havoc and bringing tragedy she swears never to sing another note Lizzy however has a voice as uplifting as the pure beauty of the song of the bellbirds and others are not quite so willing to let her remarkable talent go to waste There is the loving but ambitious Sister Angelica a natural teacher the vibrant and dangerously attractive Maestro Leonard Rominski whose charms Lizzy finds irresistible and the irrepressible Gran whose love sustains Lizzy through thrilling highs and crushing lows But it is Lizzy alone who will ultimately decide if the price she must pay to sing is too high Praise for Anne McCullagh Rennie's books Pacy spirited and moving Australian Women's Weekly The Australian Outback has provided inspiration for some of the most outstanding and memorable pieces of Australian literature and to that list can be added Anne McCullagh Rennie's story Reach for the Dream New Idea     Mr. William Shakespeare's Comedies, Histories, Tragedies, & Sonnets William Shakespeare,1896
