Talking With Children About Things That Matter:

Table Talk, 1899 The End of Epistemology as We Know it Brian Talbot, 2024 Epistemology is the philosophical study of how we should form our beliefs It is one of the central areas of philosophical inquiry and has been so for as long as there have been philosophers The End of Epistemology As We Know It challenges the views and methodology of almost every epistemologist both historical and contemporary In a call for radical reform of how epistemology is practiced and a rethinking of conventional wisdom in this area Brian Talbot puts forward new epistemic norms that differ significantly from the norms of mainstream epistemic theories Handing Down the Faith Christian Smith, Amy Adamczyk, 2020-07-02 Handing Down the Faith explores how and why American religious parents seek to pass on religion to their children The authors draw on 215 in depth personal interviews with religious parents from many different traditions and parts of the country and sophisticated analyses of two nationally representative surveys of American parents Rich in empirical evidence and unique in many of the topics it explores and explains the book will interest scholars of religion social scientists interested in the family parenting and socialization clergy and religious educators and leaders and religious parents themselves

Adolescent Substance Use Disorders, An Issue of Child and Adolescent Psychiatric Clinics of North America Yifrah Kaminer, 2010-06-29 This comprehensive issue on Substance Abuse in youth begins with articles on epidemiological trends genetic risk factors neurobiology of substance use disorders and race and gender associations and then provides detailed reviews on prevention and various treatment methodologies Treatments discussed include individual and group interventions motivational interviewing and cognitive behavioral therapy contingency reinforcement multidimensional family therapy pharmacotherapy and post treatment aftercare Also reviewed in detail are substance use disorders and psychiatric comorbidity The issue then takes a close look at two emerging areas of concern in youth gambling and internet occupation and energy drink use By all accounts a must read issue for psychiatrists everywhere Postdigital Play and Global Education Kerry Dixon, Karin Murris, Joanne Peers, Theresa Giorza, Chanique Lawrence, 2024-09-24 Postdigital Play and Global Education Reconfiguring Research is a re turn to a large scale international project on children s digital play Adopting postqualitative and posthumanist theories research practices are reconfigured all the way down from what counts as data tools instruments transcription research sites researchers to notions of responsibility and accountability in qualitative research Through a series of vignettes involving complex human and more than human collaborators e g GoPros octopus avatars diaries sackball LEGO bricks the authors challenge who and what can be playful and creative across contexts in the global north and global south The diffractive methodology enacted interrupts Western developmental notions of agency that are dominant in research involving young children The concept of postdigital offers fresh opportunities to disrupt dominant understandings of children s play Play emerges as an enigmatic and shape shifting human and more than human agentic force that operates beyond digital non digital online offline binaries By attuning to race gender age and language invisible and colonising aspects of postdigital worldings the authors show how global education research can be reimaged through a posthumanist decentering of children without erasure Postdigital Play and Global Education puts into practice Karen Barad's agential realism but also a range of postdevelopmental and posthumanist writings from diverse fields The book will be of particular interest to researchers looking for guidance to enact agential realist and posthumanist philosophies in research involving young children
