Target America:

Target America, 2002 The Bomb and America's Missile Age Christopher Gainor, 2018-10-15 How nuclear weapons helped drive the United States into the missile age The intercontinental ballistic missile ICBM designed to quickly deliver thermonuclear weapons to distant targets was the central weapons system of the Cold War ICBMs also carried the first astronauts and cosmonauts into orbit More than a generation later we are still living with the political technological and scientific effects of the space race while nuclear armed ICBMs remain on alert and in the headlines around the world In The Bomb and America's Missile Age Christopher Gainor explores the US Air Force's USAF decision in March 1954 to build the Atlas America's first ICBM Beginning with the story of the guided missiles that were created before and during World War II Gainor describes how the early Soviet and American rocket programs evolved over the course of the following decade He argues that the USAF was wrongly criticized for unduly delaying the start of its ICBM program endangering national security and causing America embarrassment when a Soviet ICBM successfully put Sputnik into orbit ahead of any American satellite Shedding fresh light on the roots of America's space program and the development of US strategic forces The Bomb and America's Missile Age uses evidence uncovered in the past few decades to set the creation of the Atlas ICBM in its true context not only in the America of the postwar years but also in comparison with the real story of the Soviet missiles that propelled the space race and the Cold War Aimed at readers interested in the history of the Cold War and of space exploration the book makes a major contribution to the history of rocket development and the nuclear age Fearing the Worst Samuel F. Wells Jr., 2019-11-26 After World War II the escalating tensions of the Cold War shaped the international system Fearing the Worst explains how the Korean War fundamentally changed postwar competition between the United States and the Soviet Union into a militarized confrontation that would last decades Samuel F Wells Jr examines how military and political events interacted to escalate the conflict Decisions made by the Truman administration in the first six months of the Korean War drove both superpowers to intensify their defense buildup American leaders feared the worst case scenario that Stalin was prepared to start World War III and raced to build up strategic arms resulting in a struggle they did not seek out or intend Their decisions stemmed from incomplete interpretations of Soviet and Chinese goals especially the belief that China was a Kremlin puppet Yet Stalin Mao and Kim Il sung all had their own agendas about which the United States lacked reliable intelligence Drawing on newly available documents and memoirs including previously restricted archives in Russia China and North Korea Wells analyzes the key decision points that changed the course of the war He also provides vivid profiles of the central actors as well as important but lesser known figures Bringing together studies of military policy and diplomacy with the roles of technology intelligence and domestic politics in each of the principal nations Fearing the Worst offers a new account of the Korean War and its lasting legacy A Different Kind of War: The United States Army in Operation ENDURING FREEDOM, October 2001 - September 2005, First comprehensive study of the U S Army's experience in Afghanistan during the first four years of Operation enduring Freedom OEF Focuses on Army operations in the larger Joint and Coalition campaign that evolved between October 2001 and September 2005 Sheds light on the overall course of OEF

North America Skyline ,1957 America's Space Sentinels Jeffrey Richelson,1999 During much of the Cold War America s first line of defense was in outer space a network of secret satellites that could provide instant warning of an enemy missile launch The presence of these infrared sensors orbiting 22 000 miles above the earth discouraged a Soviet first strike and stabilized international relations between the superpowers and they now play a crucial role in monitoring the missile programs of China India and other emerging nuclear powers Jeffrey Richelson has written the first comprehensive history of this vital program tracing its evolution from the late 1950s to the present He puts Defense Support Program operations in the context of world events from Russian missile programs to the Gulf War and explains how DSP s infrared sensors are used to detect meteorites monitor forest fires and even gather industrial intelligence by seeing the lights of steel mills The American Stationer ,1900 The Marine Corps Gazette ,1983 U.S. News & World Report ,1999
