Sociopolitics Of English Language Teaching:

The Sociopolitics of English Language Teaching Joan Kelly Hall, William Eggington, 2000-01-01 The sociopolitical dimensions of English language teaching are central to the English language professional. These dimensions include language policies, cultural expectations, and the societal roles of languages. This book aims to present these issues to practicing and aspiring teachers in order to raise awareness of the sociopolitical nature of English language teaching.

The Sociopolitics of English Language Testing Seyyed-Abdolhamid Mirhosseini, Peter De Costa, 2020-02-20 Highlighting marginalized but significant perspectives about the sociopolitical essence of English language tests and testing processes worldwide, this book explores the social considerations of testing theories and practices from a critical perspective. Investigating concerns surrounding power inequalities, The Sociopolitics of English Language Testing takes a socially situated view of language assessment, bringing sociopolitical understandings of language teaching, learning, and assessment to the forefront in the field. Within the broader discussion of the politics of test use, an international team of language and education experts address the issues of ideology, diversity, power, and dominance in English language testing. Through socially sensitive theoretical as well as empirical discussion and investigation of English language testing, this book offers valuable insights not only to applied linguists and the language education community who have focused on positivistic and cognitively oriented conceptions of language testing, but to anyone who wishes to venture beyond the traditional bounds of the field.

The Routledge Handbook of the Sociopolitical Context of Language Learning Weixiao Wei, Der-lin Chao, 2025-03-11 The Routledge Handbook of the Sociopolitical Context of Language Learning is a compelling examination of how language education must adapt to our rapidly changing world. This book explores the need for a fresh perspective on language learning, moving beyond traditional methods to address the complexities of today's global landscape. It delves into the impact of geopolitical shifts, cultural exchanges, and social justice issues on language education. The book offers a blend of theoretical insights and practical approaches, highlighting how language learning intersects with global politics and cultural diversity. It examines case studies from various countries, including Ukraine and Oman, to reveal how language policies and practices are evolving in response to contemporary challenges. By integrating themes of identity, equity, and intercultural understanding, the book presents groundbreaking content that pushes for more inclusive and effective language education. Ideal for educators, policymakers, and anyone interested in the future of language learning, this book provides valuable perspectives on how to rethink and redesign language education to better serve a diverse and interconnected world. It offers practical strategies and thought-provoking analyses, making it an essential resource for navigating the complexities of modern language teaching and learning.

Bridging Community Development and the Aid-based English Language Teaching Classroom Jeremy Dane Sporrang, 2004

English as a Lingua Franca: Attitude and Identity Jennifer Jenkins, 2007-07-26 Based on research conducted among teachers, this text examines the role of standard language ideology in ELF attitude formation.

critiques current SLA theories and ELT practices highlights links between ELF accent attitudes and ELF identities and includes proposals for making ELT pedagogy and testing more relevant Language, Education, and Ideology Timothy Reagan, 2002-11-30 Language educators in general and foreign language educators in particular need to be aware of and sensitive to issues related to the interface and nexus of language education and ideology This work places foreign language education in its social context as well as applying critical pedagogy to the foreign language classroom to help educators become more aware of the social political historical and economic contexts in which they work and which effect the classroom setting Research and scholarship in critical pedagogy is impressive extensive and powerful and has had significant impact on nearly every aspect of contemporary educational scholarship One area in which critical theory and critical pedagogy have been slow to have a noticeable effect however is that of language education especially foreign language education Further while a number of important works address issues of critical literacy there are no general works presenting critical perspectives on language and language issues targeting classroom teachers and other educators This work offers a broad and comprehensive overview of language and linguistic issues that emerge in the classroom context from a critical philosophical perspective The central focus is on the nexus of issues of language education and ideology as the title suggests and specific topics covered will include language and power linguistic purism the marginalization of second language education in the United States the phenomenon of ideological monolingualism in the United States the hierarchy of the less commonly taught languages both in terms of its etiology and the ideological and hegemonic functions this hierarchy serves nonmainstream language varieties in school settings issues of linguistic legitimacy in the classroom context the politics and ideological context of bilingual education in the United States language policy both as a tool for oppression and as a means of empowerment and finally the need for critical language awareness on the part of all educators

International Journal of Educational Reform ,2005 Language Planning in Higher Education Sabiha Mansoor, 2005 Based on an in depth sociolinguistic case study of language planning in Pakistan this book examines the extent of the linguistic support in Urdu English or the mother tongue available to students to cope with their courses in higher education Keeping in view the paucity of research in the area of sociolinguistics bililingual education and language planning in the Pakistani and the South Asian context this volume will be of interest not only to language planners and curriculum developers but also to English language teachers and students in Pakistan and abroad This study is unique in that it illustrates the sociolinguistic profile in Pakistan and provides insights into the complex issues of multiculturalism and ethnicity and their impact on linguistic educational and socio cultural outcomes It focuses particularly on problems confronting language planning in higher education along with guidelines for its implementation Moroccan EFL Learners' Attitudes towards World Englishes and Native and Non-Native English-Speaking Teachers: Towards a Global Englishes-Informed Pedagogy Mustapha Mourchid, 2025-07-17 Doctoral Thesis Dissertation from the year 2025 in the subject

English Language and Literature Studies Linguistics Ibn Tofail University Faculty of Languages Letters and Arts course

World Englishes and Global Englishes Language Teaching language English abstract Today's changing sociolinguistic reality of English calls for a shift in paradigm in the field of English language teaching Therefore this study aims to examine Moroccan EFL learners' MEFLs' attitudes towards World Englishes WE and native and non-native English speaking teachers NESTs non-NESTs Firstly building on the assumption that Kachru's three Concentric Circles have been treated unequally and that less scholarly research has been published on expanding circle countries this study seeks to examine the attitudes of MEFLs towards WE Overall although the study's findings show that MEFLs tend to prefer inner circle Englishes the participants surveyed are aware of English language variation and are willing to learn more about varieties of English speech Secondly departing from the assumption that EFL learners tend to show a preference for NESTs over non-NESTs and that there is a short supply of research into this phenomenon in Morocco this study intervenes to explore the applicability of this assumption to MEFLs In this regard the study's findings show that the participants' attitudes towards NESTs and non-NESTs are positive The results also reveal that the Moroccan context seems to be a fertile setting for discussing WE and NEST non-NEST related issues On the one hand the participants recognise and appreciate the sociolinguistic variation exhibited in the English language On the other hand the participants judge NESTs and non-NESTs in positive ways Finally the study concludes with several pedagogical implications for the choice of linguistic models to be employed in EFL classrooms inside and outside Morocco
