Solar Energy At Work:

Power At Work Marcel van der Linden, Nicole Mayer-Ahuja, 2023-07-04 Between working men and women which may include free wage earners chattel slaves indentured labourers sharecroppers domestic servants and many others and those employing them there has always been a constant mostly silent but sometimes overt struggle concerning employers discretionary power and over the interpretation of formal and informal rules There is a constantly shifting frontier of control that is an ongoing struggle for control in the workplace with managers and supervisors trying to increase their power over their subordinates and their subordinates in reaction trying to maintain and increase their relative autonomy The detailed case studies in this volume span three centuries and cover different parts of the world Still they speak to each other in many ways highlighting the fact that power at work whether on the shopfloor or beyond results from a wide range of complex interrelations Between technological innovations and the ways in which they are actually implemented Between the division of labour at the site of production or service provision and changing standards of social segmentation beyond the premises of the company which can be reinforced or weakened by management strategies of utilizing labour power as well as workers reaction to these strategies And finally between politics in production which shape the relations between capital and labour on the shopfloor and state politics of production which cannot be understood without reference to broader developments in economy and society Renewable Energy At Home Owen Jones, 2023-10-30 Would you like to get off the grid What a great feeling that would be This ebook will give you ideas on how to accomplish that There are 16 chapters n many aspects of sustainable energy and you have the right to use these chapters in your own literary projects but not to sell or give the book away in its entirety Impact of Solar Energy on Rural Housing United States. Interpreting Energy at Museums and Historic Sites Leah S. Glaser, 2022-12-13 Experts all agree that human beings can mitigate climate change by changing how we use energy for heat light movement and production Stewards of heritage sites and collections can engage the public at the grassroots level to raise awareness about the cultural and socioeconomic reasons for past choices that have contributed to climate change This book will help cultural institutions identify ways to interpret new stories through historic places and resources especially if staff have made the commitment to go green Without place based context discussions about energy focus primarily on the science and not the human experience By reminding us of our past practices and values regarding energy production and use historic places can inspire different ways of thinking about transitioning to different energy sources and question the doctrine that high energy use is necessary for progress Public interpretation can expose the vast energy infrastructure and the impact of energy extraction production and use on place Historic sites offer place based contexts for visitors to interact with and think critically about the processes and the impact of energy development in for example a maritime village This book synthesizes science with the humanities outside of popular media and other politicized spaces to identify different kinds of energy resources in many historic collections or sites It supplements current calls for economic and policy changes because as stewards of historic places we need to do what we can in this all hands on deck moment to prepare for shared stewardship of our future
