Solo Transportships:

Mining Development Scenario for Cobalt-rich Manganese Crusts in the Exclusive Economic Zones of the Hawaiian Archipelago and Johnston Island Hawaii. Marine Mining Program James G. Wenzel, 1987     Blood on German Snow Emiel W. Owens, 2006-08-02 Emiel Owens served his country in the 777th Field Artillery involved in actions from Omaha Beach to the occupation army in the Philippines Like the rest of the U S Army at the time the 777th was a segregated unit Remarkably few memoirs by African Americans have been published from the World War II era making Owens's account especially valuable Because he situates his military experience in the larger context of his life and the society in which he lived his story also reveals much about the changing racial climate of the last several decades A native Texan Owens recounts his early experiences in a small rural school outside Austin during the hard times of the Depression In 1943 he was drafted into the army landing in England in August 1944 Ten days later he was on Omaha Beach By November 3 Owens and his unit were supporting the 30th Infantry Division as it attacked German towns and cities leading into the Ruhr Pocket and the Huertgen Forest Owens starkly portrays the horror of the Kohlscheid Penetration He was awarded a certificate of merit for his actions in that theater With help from the G I bill Owens returned to college and then to graduate school at Ohio State University since universities in his home state were still closed to African Americans He earned a Ph D in economics which led to a productive academic and consulting career This is a uniquely captivating story of an African American man's journey from a segregated Texas town to the battlefields of Europe and on to postwar success in a world changed forever by the war Americans black and white had fought

From the nobility in the kingdom of Borno to being kidnapped into slavery the inspiring life story of Nicholas Said is an epic journey through the nineteenth century that takes him from Africa to the Ottoman Empire and finally from Czarist Russia to the American Civil War becoming a sergeant in one of the first African American regiments in the Union Army In the late 1830s a young Black man was born into a world of wealth and privilege in the powerful thousand year old African kingdom of Borno But instead of becoming a respected general like his fearsome father who was known as The Lion Nicolas Said's fate was to fight a very different kind of battle At the age of thirteen Said was kidnapped and sold into slavery beginning an epic journey that would take him across Africa Asia Europe and eventually the United States where he would join one of the first African American regiments in the Union Army Nicholas Said would then spend the rest of his life fighting for equality Along the way Said encountered such luminaries as Queen Victoria and Czar Nicholas I fought Civil War battles that would turn the war for the North established schools to educate newly freed Black children and served as one of the first Black voting registrars In The Sergeant Said's epic and largely unknown story is brought to light by globe trotting Pulitzer prize winning journalist Dean Calbreath in a meticulously researched and approachable biography Through the lens of Said's continent crossing life Calbreath examines the parallels and differences in the ways slavery was practiced from a global and religious perspective and he highlights how Said's experiences echo the discrimination segregation and violence that are still being reckoned with today There has never been a more voracious appetite for stories documenting the African American experience and The Sergeant's unique perspective of slavery from a global perspective will resonate with a wide audience
