Intercultural Communication A diverse multicultural team of experts assembled for this compelling volume voice the importance of understanding language communication and culture. They discuss the critical role of language usage through communication to assert and negotiate different facets of identity and relate the different levels and functions of language usage to the collective life of a culture. Each author discusses the interlinkage between language and communication based on his or her points of research interest and orientation. Topics addressed include the importance of studying the relationships between language and society, the relationship between language and identities, personal identity, social role identity, and cultural ethnolinguistic identity, and the multiple functions and meanings of language and communication in relationship to culture. Taken together the three approaches in this volume reflect the current trends and directions of the multidisciplinary nature of studying language communication and culture. Language Communication and Culture reflects the current ideas and approaches of scholars working in the disciplines of psychology, linguistics, sociolinguistics, intergroup relations, and communication. It will appeal to scholars, researchers, and students who are intrigued and enticed by the fascinating multifaceted aspects of language. The book makes a unique contribution to the literature in that it includes a balance of theoretical discussion of issues such as language development, use, and function, as well as a variety of analytical approaches and intergroup data based studies. Language Communication and Culture is a book which extends our knowledge about the structures, functions, and implications of language use across cultures. Ting Toomey and Korzenny have provided a worthwhile sourcebook for those of us researching culture and a particularly useful book for graduate level or advanced undergraduate coursework in language and/or culture. International Journal of Intercultural Relations This is an important volume and will prove invaluable to gamers interested in the communication and the cultural aspects of simulation. Simulation Gaming This collection is a well organized presentation of current research on the relationships among intercultural communication processes from differing perspectives. The Modern Language Journal This book will interest academic specialists in language and communication and their graduate students. Academic Library Book Review On the whole the papers are coherent and well integrated into the research literature. Canadian Journal of Communication The contributors' arguments are diverse but interlinked and provide a critical perspective on the theme of language and communication in cross cultural contexts. Adds to several important studies about the language culture nexus and favors the current climate of cultural pluralism and multilingualism to promote liberal ethnic identity. Journal of Cross Cultural Psychology Intercultural Communication James W. Neuliep, 2006 This introduction to intercultural communication provides students with a clear model for examining communication within cultural, micro cultural, environmental, socio relational, and perceptual contexts. The author depicts his theory as a series of circles representing the idea that communication is defined by the interdependence of cultural contexts. Impact of Gender, Organizational Role, and Multicultural Status on Conflict Resolution Style Preference Jennifer Lea Holt, 2000 This research involved primarily a meta analysis of conflict resolution research derived from Blake and Mouton's 1964 dual concerns theory Secondarily focus group research assessed the field validity of the results Dual concerns theory postulates that organizational conflict involves balancing the desire to obtain one's own goals concern for production versus the desire to retain interpersonal relationships concern for people By placing the two aspects on an axis called the managerial grid Blake and Mouton mapped out five styles of managing conflict forcing avoiding accommodating compromising and problem solving Numerous studies validate the central ideas of the theory respondents rank styles of resolving conflict depending upon the degree of concern for retaining relationships versus the degree of concern for meeting goals However there is great disparity among study results In this study meta analytic techniques were used to provide a clearer overall picture of conflict resolution rankings Analyses were conducted of published and unpublished research results with statistical measures of conflict resolution style preferences focusing on the variables of worker minority status including ethnicity gender and foreign national and organizational role status of referent group including superior subordinate and peer The results of the meta analyses were 1 Ethnicity and foreign national insufficient studies for overall meta analysis tentative results using one instrument showed Asian ethnicities highest on avoiding Middle Easterners highest on compromising Hispanic Americans highest on accommodating African Americans lowest on avoiding and European Americans highest on problem solving 2 Gender meta analysis indicated females were significantly more likely to use accommodating and compromising males significantly preferred forcing 3 Organizational role meta analysis indicated respondents used avoiding significantly more with peers than with subordinates and compromising style less with subordinates than superiors Focus group results corroborated the results in general but there was strong consensus about the need to regard each individual as a unique combination of many influences Further research is needed particularly on multicultural status however due to the tendency for pertinent studies to favor more inclusive conflict resolution instruments than those utilized for the purposes of this research other means of overall analysis should be considered Readings in Intercultural Communication: Experiences and Contexts Judith Martin, Thomas Nakayama, Lisa Flores, 2002 The goal of this revised edition is to explore multiple perspectives in intercultural communication that are grounded in the everyday communication experiences of study The essays in this edition range from the classic writings of E T Hall Gerry Philipsen and Geert Hofstede to more recent scholarship influenced by critical theory and cultural studies
