University Police investigation, which concluded by police statements to the court that the man was recognized. In addition, despite the fact that the court clearly knew that the man's description was accurate, this witness stated without qualification that the man's description was correct. Based on the foregoing, the court concluded that the University Police investigation, which concluded by police statements to the court that the man was recognized, should not be used to impeach the witness's testimony.

1970s when the government of Prime Minister Menzies was forced to make significant changes to its industrial relations framework, and the Government itself was forced to take a more hands-off role. Recently, local governments have been given more autonomy to determine minimum standards. Discrepancies and conflicts of interpretation have been minimised and harmonised regulations have been introduced that give effect to the new laws.
