Burke's Reflections on the Revolution in France (Routledge Library Editions: Political Science Volume 28) F. P. Lock, 2013-04-15 Edmund Burke's Reflections on the Revolution in France is one of the major texts in the western intellectual tradition. This book describes Burke's political and intellectual world, stressing the importance of the idea of property in Burke's thought. It then focuses more closely on Burke's personal and political situation in the late 1780s to explain how the Reflections came to be written. The central part of the study discusses the meaning and interpretation of the work. In the last part of the book, the author surveys the pamphlet controversy which the Reflections generated, paying particular attention to the most famous of the replies, Tom Paine's Rights of Man. It also examines the subsequent reputation of the Reflections from the 1790s to the modern day, noting how often Burke has fascinated even writers who have disliked his politics.

Adam Ferguson: Philosophy, Politics and Society Eugene Heath, 2015-09-30 Unique among the leading figures of the Scottish Enlightenment, Ferguson saw two eighteenth-century revolutions: the American and the French. This monograph contains a set of essays that analyse Ferguson's philosophical, political, and sociological writings and the discourse which they prompted between Ferguson and other important figures.

Encyclopedia of the Essay Tracy Chevalier, 2012-10-12 This groundbreaking new source of international scope defines the essay as nonfictional prose texts of between one and 50 pages in length. The more than 500 entries by 275 contributors include entries on nationalities, various categories of essays such as generic (such as sermons, aphorisms, individual major works, notable writers and periodicals that created a market for essays) and particularly famous or significant essays. The preface details the historical development of the essay, and the alphabetically arranged entries usually include biographical sketch, nationality, era, selected writings, list of additional readings, and anthologies.
