Memory, Music, Manuscripts Michaela Mross, 2022-05-31 K shiki Buddhist ceremonials belong to a shared ritual repertoire of Japanese Buddhism that began with Tendai Pure Land belief in the late tenth century and spread to all Buddhist schools including Sōtō Zen in the thirteenth century. In Memory Music Manuscripts Michaela Mross elegantly combines the study of premodern manuscripts and woodblock prints with ethnographic fieldwork to illuminate the historical development of the highly musical k shiki rituals performed by Sōtō Zen clerics. She demonstrates how ritual change is often shaped by factors outside the ritual context per se by for example institutional interests evolving biographic images of eminent monks or changes in the cultural memory of a particular lineage. Her close study of the fascinating world of k shiki in Sōtō Zen sheds light on Buddhism as a lived religion and the interplay of ritual doctrine literature collective memory material culture and music. Mross highlights in particular the sonic dimension in rituals. Scholars of Buddhist and ritual studies have largely overlooked the soundscapes of rituals despite the importance of music for many ritual specialists and the close connection between the acquisition of ritual expertise and learning to vocalize sacred texts or play musical instruments. Indeed Sōtō clerics strive to perfect their vocal skills and view k shiki and the singing of liturgical texts as vital Zen practices and an expression of buddhahood similar to seated meditation. Innovative and groundbreaking Memory Music Manuscripts is the first in depth study of k shiki in Zen Buddhism and the first monograph in English on this influential liturgical genre. A companion website featuring video recordings of selected k shiki performances is available at <https://searchworks.stanford.edu/view/dq109wp7548>

The Routledge Handbook of Hospitality Studies Conrad Lashley, 2016-11-10

In recent years there has been a growing interest in the study of hospitality as a social phenomenon. This interest has tended to arrive from two communities. The first comprises hospitality academics interested in exploring the wider meanings of hospitality as a way of better understanding guest and host relations and its implications for commercial settings The second comprises social scientists using hosts and guests as a metaphor for understanding the relationship between host communities and guests as people from outside the community migrants asylum seekers and illegal immigrants The Routledge Handbook of Hospitality Studies encourages both the study of hospitality as a human phenomenon and the study for hospitality as an industrial activity embracing the service of food drink and accommodation Developed from specifically commissioned original contributions from recognised authors in the field it is the most up to date and definitive resource on the subject The volume is divided into four parts the first looks at ways of seeing hospitality from an array of social science disciplines the second highlights the experiences of hospitality from different guest perspectives the third explores the need to be hospitable through various time periods and social structures and across the globe while the final section deals with the notions of sustainability and hospitality This handbook is interdisciplinary in coverage and is also international in scope through authorship and content The state of the art orientation of the book is achieved through a critical view of current debates and controversies in the field as well as future research issues and trends It is designed to be a benchmark for any future assessment of the field and its development This handbook offers the reader a comprehensive synthesis of this discipline conveying the latest thinking issues and research It will be an invaluable resource for all those with an interest in hospitality encouraging dialogue across disciplinary boundaries and areas of study Chapters Chapter 4 of this book is freely available as a downloadable Open Access PDF at <http://www.taylorfrancis.com> under a Creative Commons Attribution Non Commercial No Derivatives CC BY NC ND 4 0 license
