Ardito, 2021-10-20 This book explores the lived experience of being at home as well as being homeless Being at home or not is typically a matter of being at a place or not where such a place is carved out of space and designated as such It is a place that is both empirical and trans empirical When one is at home or not at home one typically has in mind an inhabited place To inhabit or not to inhabit it is to find oneself in a place that has an affective presence or absence In either case affectivity points to a lived place where lived experience is constituted and displayed Thus in this context affectivity becomes more than the subject of empirical psychology If psychology were to have access it would be in the context of phenomenological or existential psychology a psychology that has its roots in the sensible world and hence a psychology that expresses an aesthetic dimension Each of the contributors in this book extends an invitation to the readers to participate in constituting extending and sharing with others the sense of either being at home or of being homeless This book appeals to students researchers as well as general interest readers Unfatherless: Finding The Way Home Sean D Alcorn, 2024-07-28 A
