Steroidprotein Interactions:

Steroid-Protein Interactions Ulrich Westphal, 2012-12-06 This is the story of steroid protein interactions as one investigator sees it Following the general concept of this monograph series it emphasizes the results and interpretations obtained in the author's laboratory and is therefore a subjective account Recognizing how ever that the discussion of the subject would be incomplete if the material were limited to one scientist's work the essential achievements of other investigators have been incorporated An effort has thus been made to give a balanced presentation and to enable the reader to see in perspective the varied facets of the interactions between steroids and proteins Since this is the first comprehensive treatment of the topic it seems appropriate to go to the roots and try to find out how it all started The first chapters therefore take the reader to the laboratories of those who very early conceived the significance of the attachment of dyes drugs and other conspicuous molecules to those colloids called proteins The discovery of the steroid hormones set the stage for meaningful investigation of their interaction with proteins of various origins and functions a process which is continuing today with increasing vigor

Steroid-protein Interactions Ulrich Westphal, Frank De Venuto, 1965 Studies on the binding of progesterone to alpha 1 acid glycoprotein were continued A decreasing effect of traces of heavy metals especially Fe on the binding affinity was observed Complete deionization of the test system is necessary Purification of human corticosteroid binding globulin CBG by DEAE cellulose chromatography and hydroxylapatite adsorption procedures resulted in an overall concentration of about 700 fold Application of similar chromatographic techniques including sephadex G 200 fractionation to rabbit serum yielded preparations that were purified approximately 2000 fold Sera of man monkey rat rabbit and guinea pig were freed of endogenous corticosteroids by sephadex filtration at 45C The binding affinities of these sera were then determined by multiple equilibrium dialysis at five concentrations each of cortisol corticosterone and progesterone at 4C and 37C Concentrations of corticosteroid binding sites and their association constants were determined Author
