Tax Reform in Rural China

Hiroki Takeuchi, 2014-06. How does China maintain authoritarian rule while it is committed to market oriented economic reforms? This book analyzes this puzzle by offering a systematic analysis of the central local governmental relationship in rural China focusing on rural taxation and political participation. Drawing on in depth interviews with Chinese local officials and villagers and combining them with game theoretic analyses, it argues that the central government uses local governments as a target of blame for the problems that the central government has actually created. The most recent rural tax reforms which began in 2000 were a conscious trade off between fiscal crises and rural instability. For the central government, local fiscal crises and the lack of public goods in agricultural areas were less serious concerns than the heavy financial burdens imposed on farmers and the rural unrest that the predatory extractive behavior of local governments had generated in the 1990s which threatened both economic reforms and authoritarian rule. Removing Tax Barriers to

China's Belt and Road Initiative Michael Lang, Jeffrey Owens, 2018-11-27. Since its announcement in 2013, the Belt and Road Initiative (BRI) also known as the New Silk Road has gradually gained international recognition. The project requires not only extensive investment in infrastructure and transportation but also an acceleration of the internationalization of multinationals and supply chains in Belt and Road countries. The project will hopefully lead governments and businesses in countries along the Belt and Road to compete, adopt best practices and improve transparency. The BRI marks a national push by China to increase economic links to Southeast Asia, Central Asia, Russia, the Baltic region, Central and Eastern Europe, Africa and Latin America which will have major consequences for the way that tax systems interact. Emerging from the research conducted by the WU Global Tax Policy Center in cooperation with several Chinese universities, this book offers fourteen policy relevant research papers prepared by international experts on the following issues: The New Silk Road Will Tax Be a Facilitator or a Barrier? Neo BEPS: China's Prescription for International Tax Reform. Embodying the Rationality of the Belt: International Taxation Coordination under China's Belt and Road Strategy.
