Classroom Communication Jean M. Civikly, 1995-05-01 The goal of this text is to encourage and assist students aspiring to become high caliber teachers to communicate two essentials their knowledge of the subject matter and their concern for students Civikly encourages teachers to be to set goals for themselves in their development as teachers and to be a positive influence on students In Chapters 1 and 2 the process of communication is discussed and a close look is taken at the people involved in the process Chapters 3 and 4 provide a look at the verbal and nonverbal messages that occur in the classroom Chapters 5 through 7 examine the dynamics of interpersonal interactions between the teacher and students Chapters 8 and 9 examine the communication strategies of teaching Chapter 10 discusses the importance of self care and attention to one's professional development

Micro-Reflection on Classroom Communication Hansun Zhang Waring, Sarah Chepkirui Creider, 2020 Traditional concerns with classroom communication have centered on questions such as who talks more whether the interaction is teacher centered or student centered whether participation is restricted to a few or available to all what kinds of questions teachers ask and what kinds of feedback they give These indicators provide a simple and useful way of capturing classroom communication in distributional and categorical terms Less attention has been devoted to observing and understanding the quality of this communication whether it facilitates learning regardless of for example who talks more Based on over a decade of fine grained analysis of video recorded ESL classroom interaction this book offers one way of seeing and gauging the quality of classroom communication beyond distributions and categories In particular by parsing detailed transcripts of actual classroom interaction it invites reflective conversations on how three principles of skillful classroom communication may be practiced in the micro moments of classroom interaction fostering an inviting environment attending to student voices and balancing competing demands FAB The goal is to cultivate a mentality of micro reflection one that sensitizes teachers to the consequentiality of every move they make as they make them in the simultaneity and sequentiality of second by second classroom interaction      An Introduction to Communication in the Classroom James C. McCroskey, Virginia P. Richmond, 2005-07 An Introduction to Communication in the Classroom The Role of Communication in Teaching and Training offers a brief and basic introduction to concepts and applications related to communication in the classroom Because the book does not assume any prior knowledge of communication concepts it is written to be very accessible avoiding technical language and jargon and fully explaining communication concepts      Effective Classroom Communication Pocketbook Richard Churches, 2015-09-16 Research consistently shows that teacher effectiveness is about engagement interaction questioning positive atmosphere high expectations and suitable challenge At the heart of all these areas is the ability to communicate effectively How you do that minute by minute and second by second is fundamental to what children learn and remember and to how they behave Richard Churches draws from a range of disciplines such as psychology NLP and neuroscience to provide a practical compendium of communication expertise based on what highly effective teachers do You ll find out how to use influential language patterns to support learning and positive behaviour the secrets of body language and non verbal communication how to communicate to create the right emotional climate effective questioning techniques etc Small changes to your current practice could lead to huge benefits in the classroom
