Small Deaths Roberto Marino,Pasquale Verdicchio,2008-01-01     Little Deaths Geoffrey K. Watkins,2000-12 Even for those who are already acquainted with the insightful and brooding work of Geoffrey K Watkins Little Deaths will come as a dark surprise Here are sixteen stories of life each story standing alone in its own small world but all of them clustered like spectators at an accident scene not wanting to see what is happening but unable to look away watching and waiting for the ending an ending which is in each story as inevitable as death but just as unpredictable These are not however stories of Death of final rest but of the tiny shards of shattered emotional glass which without warning cut away at our hearts our minds and our souls and lead to those little deaths which slowly and relentlessly slay us while we are still alive     The Undead Child in Popular Culture Craig Martin,Debbie Olson,2024-08-07 In this study of representations of children and childhood a global team of authors explores the theme of undeadness as it applies to cultural constructions of the child Moving beyond conventional depictions of the undead in popular culture as living dead monsters of horror and mad science that transgress the borders between life and death rejuvenation and decay the authors present undeadness as a broader concept that explores how people objects customs and ideas deemed lost or consigned to the past might endure in the present The chapters examine nostalgic texts that explore past incarnations of childhood mementos of childhood zombie children spectral children images and artefacts of deceased children as well as states of arrested development and the inability or refusal to embrace adulthood Expanding undeadness beyond the realm of horror and extending its meaning conceptually while acknowledging its roots in the genre the book explores attempts at countering the transitory nature of childhoods This unique and insightful volume will interest scholars and students working on popular culture and cultural studies media studies film and television studies childhood studies gender studies and philosophy     Parliamentary Debates Victoria.
