

Is Stimulus Sampling Theory a Model?

- “The term ‘stimulus sampling theory’ refers to a number of theories differing with respect to special assumptions and their mathematical expression, yet sharing a common approach to conceptual representation of the stimulus situation and the formation of associative connections, rather than to a single coherent set of assumptions formulated to apply to all the experimental procedures employed in the study of learning” (p. 1).

Stimulus Sampling Theory:

Stimulus sampling theory E. D. ; Estes Neimark (W. K.),2023     Stimulus Sampling Theory Richard C. Atkinson,William Kaye Estes,1962 Some of the fundamental mathematical techniques of stimulus sampling theory are presented The simplest of all learning models the pattern model for simple learning is presented in which the population of available stimulation is ASSUMED TO COMPRIZE A SET OF DISTINCT STIMULUS PATTERNS EXACTLY ONE OF WHICH IS SAMPLED ON EACH TRIAL In the important special case of the oneelement model it is assumed that there is only one such pattern and that it recurs intact at the beginning of each experimental trial The oneelement model is worthy of study not only for expositional purposes but also for its value as an analytic device in relation to certain types of learning data After a treatment of pattern models for simple acquisition and for learning under probabilistic reinforcement schedules the conceptualization of generalization and transfer is discussed the component models in which the patterns of stimulation effective on individual trials are treated not as distinct elements but as overlapping samples from a common population and finally some examples of the more complex multiple process models which are becoming increasingly important in the analysis of discrimination learning concept formation and related phenomena are discussed Author     Foundations of Stimulus-sampling Theory for Continuous-time Processes Patrick Suppes,Jean Donio (spécialiste en informatique),1967     An Application of Stimulus Sampling Theory to Summated Generalization Teresa Sosa Carterette,1959     Stimulus Sampling Theory [by] E.D. Neimark [and] W.K. Estes E. D. Neimark,1967     Foundations of Statistical Learning Theory: The stimulus sampling model William Kaye Estes,Patrick Suppes,1959     Estes' Stimulus Sampling Theory and Massed Versus Spaced Advertising Schedules Sanjay Mishra,2016 Few studies offer a theoretical explanation of the differential effects of massed and spaced advertising Consequently conclusions have been mixed The authors introduce the stimulus sampling model of spacing effects based on Estes mathematical learning theory The model posits that massed repetition generates superior memory at short retention intervals whereas spaced repetition produces superior memory at longer retention intervals Data from various studies are analyzed and implications and potential applications of the model in the advertising context are explored     Language, Memory, and Thought John R. Anderson,2013-05-13 Published in 1976 Language Memory and thought is a valuable contribution to the field of Cognitive Psychology This book presents a theory about human cognitive functioning a set of experiments testing that theory and a review of some of the literature relevant to the theory The theory is embodied in a computer simulation model called ACT     Stimulus Sampling Theory for a Continuum of Responses Patrick Suppes,1959     Patrick Suppes R. Bogdan,2012-12-06 The aim of this series is to inform both professional philosophers and a larger readership of social and natural scientists methodologists mathematicians students teachers publishers etc about what is going on who's who and who does what in contemporary philosophy and logic PROFILES is designed to present the research activity and the results of already outstanding personalities and schools and of newly emerging ones in the various fields of philosophy and logic There are many Festschrift volumes dedicated to various philosophers There is the celebrated Library of Living Philosophers edited by P A Schilpp whose format influenced the present enterprise Still they can only cover very little of the contemporary philosophical scene Faced with a tremendous expansion of philosophical information and with an almost frightening division of labor and increasing specialization we need systematic and regular ways of keeping track of what happens in the profession PRO FILES is intended to perform such a function Each volume is devoted to one or several philosophers whose views and results are presented and discussed The profiled philosopher's will summarize and review his/her own work in the main fields of significant contribution This work will be discussed and evaluated by invited contributors Relevant historical and/or biographical data an up to date bibliography with short abstracts of the most important works and whenever possible references to significant reviews and discussions will also be included From Learning Theory to Connectionist Theory Alice F. Healy, Stephen M.

Kosslyn, Richard M. Shiffrin, 2013-04-15 These two volumes consist of chapters written by students and colleagues of W K Estes The books contributors themselves eminent figures in the field reflect on Estes sweeping contributions to mathematical as well as cognitive and experimental psychology As indicated by their titles Volume I features mathematical and theoretical essays and Volume II presents cognitive and experimental essays Both volumes contain insightful literature reviews as well as descriptions of exciting new theoretical and empirical advances Many of the essays also incorporate personal reminiscences reflecting the authors fond affection for their illustrious mentor An application of stimulus sampling theory to latency in a shock escape situation Henry Meyer Halff, 1969 Test of Stimulus-sampling Theory for a Continuum of Responses with Unimodal Noncontingent Determinate Reinforcement Patrick Suppes, Raymond W. Karush, R. E. Dear, SYSTEM DEVELOPMENT CORP SANTA MONICA CALIF., 1964 In a process that involves learning through the presentation of stimulus items in a sequence controlled by the experimenter or teacher it is of interest to determine rules of presentation i.e. stimulus presentation strategies that maximize the expected level of achievement of the subjects An N trial experiment is considered in which at each trial a stimulus item is chosen for presentation from among a given set of items The learning model used is based on the stimulus sampling theory of learning This paper treats the case of two stimulus items and derives the following among other results for this case 1 a proof of the optimality of a simple rule that essentially involves only the comparison of the values of the a posteriori probabilities that learning has been achieved for the stimulus items after each trial in the experiment 2 a division of the unit square representing initial values of the joint probability of being in a learned state for both items into regions of common optimal presentation strategies Author A Generalization of Stimulus Sampling Theory Richard C.
