

If EVERYONE sees people, situations,
the world DIFFERENTLY...

Is this a good / bad thing?

Is what we read /see true?

Are there any actual “facts”?

What factors shape our perceptions of the world?

How does perception/perspective affect everything we know or learn?

THE WORLD'S GREAT CLASSICS

TIMOTHY DWIGHT, D.D. LLD., 1899 The Nature of Things Anthony M. Quinton, 2019-03-07 Originally published in 1973. In this systematic treatise Anthony Quinton examines the concept of substance, a philosophical refinement of the everyday notion of a thing. Four distinct but not unconnected problems about substance are identified: what accounts for the individuality of a thing, what confers identity on a thing, what is the relation between a thing and its appearances, and what kind of thing is fundamental in the sense that its existence is logically independent of that of any other kind of thing. In Part 1 the first two problems are discussed while in Part 2 the third and fourth are considered. Part 3 examines four kinds of thing that have been commonly held to be in some way non material abstract entities: the unobservable entities of scientific theory, minds and their states, and finally values. The author argues that theoretical entities and mental states are in fact material. He gives a linguistic account of universals and necessary truths and advances a naturalistic theory of value.

Parables for the Virtual

Brian Massumi, 2021-08-30 Since its publication twenty years ago Brian Massumi's pioneering Parables for the Virtual has become an essential text for interdisciplinary scholars across the humanities. Massumi views the body and media such as television, film and the internet as cultural formations that operate on multiple registers of sensation. Renewing and assessing William James's radical empiricism and Henri Bergson's philosophy of perception through the filter of the postwar French philosophy of Deleuze and Guattari and Foucault, Massumi links a cultural logic of variation to questions of movement, affect and sensation. Replacing the traditional opposition of literal and figural with distinctions between stasis and motion and between actual and virtual, Massumi tackles related theoretical issues by applying them to cultural mediums as diverse as architecture, body art, the digital art of Stelarc and Ronald Reagan's acting career. The result is an intriguing combination of cultural theory, science and philosophy that asserts itself in a crystalline and multifaceted argument. This twentieth anniversary edition includes a new preface in which Massumi situates the book in relation to developments since its publication and outlines the evolution of its main concepts. It also includes two short texts: 'Keywords for Affect' and 'Missed

Conceptions about Affect in which Massumi explicates his approach to affect in ways that emphasize the book's political and philosophical stakes     The Month and Catholic Review ,1880     The Elements of Psychology Gabriel Compayré,1890

The Philosophy of Reflection Hodgson,1878     The Chief Works of Benedict de Spinoza: De intellectus emendatione. Ethica. Correspondence. (abridged) Benedictus de Spinoza,1891     The Monist Paul Carus,1899 Vols 2 and 5 include appendices     The Journal of speculative philosophy ,1881     The Philosophy of Kant Immanuel Kant,1894     The Philosophy of Right Diodato Lioy,1891     New Princeton Review ,1884     The Principles of Psychology William James,1890
