The 30s:

Cryo-Electron Microscopy in Structural Biology Krishnarao Appasani, 2024-10-17 Cryo electron microscopy in combination with tomography has emerged as a new technology for visualizing molecular structures at a resolution beyond even 1 Å. Using this technology has revealed the native molecular details of viruses, membranes, enzymes, ribosomes, and cells. This comprehensive volume brings together authoritative overviews of these methods from structural and biological perspectives. It is a must have for researchers and graduate students as well as those working in industry, primarily in the areas of biophysics, structural biology, crystallography, and genomics. Key Features: Focuses on the applications of cryo EM to structural biology. Documents the importance of cryo EM/ET approaches in studying the structural determinants of cellular organelle and membrane protein biochemistry. Reviews the applications of high resolution structures of viruses. Emphasizes structural insights of nuclear and gene machineries. Includes a section focused entirely on the applications of cryo EM/ET in drug discovery and therapeutic development.

Microbial Physiology Albert G. Moat, John W. Foster, Michael P. Spector, 2002-07-19 The Fourth Edition of Microbial Physiology retains the logical, easy to follow organization of the previous editions. An introduction to cell structure and synthesis of cell components is provided, followed by detailed discussions of genetics, metabolism, growth, and regulation for anyone wishing to understand the mechanisms underlying cell survival and growth. This comprehensive reference approaches the subject from a modern molecular genetic perspective, incorporating new insights gained from various genome projects.

Advances in Cell Biology David M. Prescott, 2013-06-29 Advances in Cell Biology has been initiated as a continuing multi volume series to report on the progress of a wide spectrum of problems of cell structure and cell function. In arranging these volumes, individual contributors are asked not only to review the major new information but especially to present the state of a given problem or area by discussing the current central issues, speculations, concepts, hypotheses, and technical problems. We intend in addition that these volumes will not be concerned with comprehensive reviews of the recent literature but will consist rather of presentations of an interpretive and integrative nature based on selection of major research advances. It is our aim that these volumes should provide the means whereby cell biologists may keep themselves reasonably well informed about the current progress in research areas in cell biology in which they are not immediately or directly involved themselves. The articles nevertheless are expected to bring into focus the experimental objectives of the specialists in a given research area.
