The Orange Curtain:

Relocations Karen Tongson, 2011-08-01 What queer lives loves and possibilities teem within suburbia's little boxes Moving beyond the imbedded urban rural binary Relocations offers the first major queer cultural study of sexuality race and representation in the suburbs Focusing on the region humorists have referred to as Lesser Los Angeles a global prototype for sprawl Karen Tongson weaves through suburbia's nowhere spaces to survey our spatial imaginaries the aesthetic creative and popular materials of the new suburbia Across southern California's freeways beneath its overpasses and just beyond its winding cloverleaf interchanges Tongson explores the improvisational archives of queer suburban sociability from multimedia artist Lynne Chan's JJ Chinois projects and the amusement park night clubs of 1980s Orange County to the imperial legacies of the region known as the Inland Empire By taking a hard look at the cosmopolitanism historically considered de rigeur for queer subjects while engaging with the so called New Suburbanism that has captivated the national imaginary in everything from lifestyle trends to electoral politics Relocations radically revises our sense of where to see and feel queer of color sociability politics and desire

Modest Nonconceptualism Eva Schmidt, 2015-07-06 The author defends nonconceptualism the claim that perceptual experience is nonconceptual and has nonconceptual content Continuing the heated and complex debate surrounding this topic over the past two decades she offers a sustained defense of a novel version of the view Modest Nonconceptualism and provides a systematic overview of some of the central controversies in the debate An explication of the notion of nonconceptual content and a distinction between nonconceptualist views of different strengths starts off the volume then the author goes on to defend participants in the debate over nonconceptual content against the allegation that their failure to distinguish between a state view and a content view of nonconceptualism leads to fatal problems for their views Next she makes a case for nonconceptualism by refining some of the central arguments for the view such as the arguments from fineness of grain from contradictory contents from animal and infant perception and from concept acquisition Then two central objections against nonconceptualism are rebutted in a novel way the epistemological objection and the objection from objectivity Modest Nonconceptualism allows for perceptual experiences to involve some conceptual elements It emphasizes the relevance of concept employment for an understanding of conceptual and nonconceptual mental states and identifies the nonconceptual content of experience with scenario content It insists on the possibility of genuine content bearing perceptual experience without concept possession and is thus in line with the Autonomy Thesis Finally it includes an account of perceptual justification that relies on the external contents of experience and belief yet is compatible with epistemological internalism
