Information and Creation German Golitsyn,Vladimir Petrov,2012-12-06 This book is devoted to one of the central problems of contemporary thinking for which c P Snow in 1959 coined the phrase of the Two Cultures In this concept human endeavour is directed on one side to the forward looking sci ences mathematics physics chemistry biology etc and on the other side to the backward looking humanities including psychology linguistics sociology etc In this dichotomy Snow saw no possibility of unification On the other hand the urge towards self consistency and harmony in the mental and spiritual lives of both man and society as a whole is clearly one of the major forces of creativity both scientific and artistic This force aims at the unification of the Two Cultures in order to build an integrated self consistent system for our intellectual life Some attempts in this direction have been made before and will be described in this book It is our aim to contribute to the achievement of an integrated mental life on the basis of information theory In order to construct our model we examine the laws of information theory leading us to the deduction of the main laws inherent in both cultures Thus we consider the evolution of both non living and living matter human behaviour the phenomenon of language the sphere of aesthetics etc We hope that our work will be useful both for researchers who are trying to derive different integral theories and for various other consumers of scientific knowledge meaning broad circles of intellectuals Information systems in a management structure G.C. Nielsen, 2012-12-06 Information technique as a profession is still so young that few opinions have settled The influence of the new possibilities in information technique on the functioning of organisations is so little understood that important questions like what is the potential of a computer in the firm will management ultimately be replaced by one man with a keyboard remain unanswered Many people are convinced that the impact of computers on the way we manage our enterprises will be enormous but they grope in the dark for qualitative and quantitative measures to describe it Naturally at this early point in the development the present applications of the computer appear incidental and offer no basis for a quest into its potential Moreover the present descriptions of management structures preclude an exact study of these structures let alone a quantitative treatment of any influence upon it In this study a number of exact concepts is developed to describe the typical grouped tasks as they occur in an organisation These concepts are characterised by the fact that the activity of management units can be described comprehensively in terms of data processing After all practically everything we do is data processing of some sort The picture of a management structure as it can be constructed with these concepts is ignoring the typically human elements like motivation and inspiration rather dull but it lends itself quite well for conclusions about computer application
