The Opera Dancer:

One Dead at the Paris Opera Ballet Felicia McCarren,2020-04-23 In 1866 when the ballet La Source debuted the public at the Paris Opera may have been content to dream about its setting in the verdant Caucasus its exotic Circassians veiled Georgians and powerful Khan Yet the ballet's botany also played to a public thinking about ethnic and exotic others at the same time and in the same ways as they were thinking about plants Along with these stereotypes with a flower promising hybridity in a green ecology and the death of the embodied Source recuperated as a force for regeneration the ballet can be read as a fable of science and the performance as its demonstration Programmed for the opening gala of the new Opera the Palais Garnier in 1875 the ballet reflected not so much a timeless Orient as timely colonial policy and engineering in North Africa the management of water and women One Dead at the Paris Opera Ballet takes readers to four historic performances over 150 years showing how through the sacrifice of a feminized Nature La Source represented the biopolitics of sex and race and the geopolitics of human and natural resources Its 2011 reinvention at the Paris Opera following the adoption of new legislation banning the veil in public spaces might have staged gender and climate justice in sync with the Arab Spring but opted instead for luxury and dream Its 2014 reprise might have focused on decolonizing the stage or raising eco consciousness but exemplified the greater urgency attached to Islamist threat rather than imminent climate catastrophe missing the ballet's historic potential to make its audience think

Ballet and Opera in the Age of Giselle Marian Elizabeth Smith,2000 Marian Smith recaptures a rich period in French musical theater when ballet and opera were intimately connected Focusing on the age of Giselle at the Paris Opéra from the 1830s through the 1840s Smith offers an unprecedented look at the structural and thematic relationship between the two genres She argues that a deeper understanding of both ballet and opera and of nineteenth century theater going culture in general may be gained by examining them within the same framework instead of following the usual practice of telling their histories separately This handsomely illustrated book ultimately provides a new portrait of the Opéra during a period long celebrated for its box office successes in both genres Smith begins by showing how gestures were encoded in the musical language that composers used in ballet and in opera She moves on to a wide range of topics including the relationship between the gestures of the singers and the movements of the dancers and the distinction between dance that represents dancing entertainment staged within the story of the opera and dance that represents action Smith maintains that ballet pantomime and opera continued to rely on each other well into the nineteenth century even as they thrived independently The divorce between the two arts occurred little by little and may be traced through unlikely sources controversies in the press about the changing nature of ballet pantomime music shifting ideas about originality complaints about the ridiculousness of pantomime and a little known rehearsal score for Giselle     A Popular History of Music, Musical Instruments, Ballet, and Opera, from St. Ambrose to Mozart James E. masters of opéra comique but also played a very important role in the development of Romantic ballet through the long danced interludes and divertissements in his grand operas La Muette de Portici Le Dieu et la Bayadère Gustave III ou Le Bal masqué Le Lac des fées L'Enfant prodigue Zerline and the opéra ballet version of Le Cheval de bronze Auber also adapted music of various of his operas to create the score of the full length ballet Marco Spada it is quite different from his own opera on the subject Additionally several choreographers have used Auber's music for their ballets among them Frederick Ashton Les Rendezvous 1937 Victor Gsovsky Grand Pas Classique 1949 and Lew Christensen Divertissement d'Auber 1959 La Muette de Portici 1828 choreographed by Jean Pierre Aumer is set against the Neapolitan uprising of 1647 and was performed 500 times in Paris alone between 1828 and 1880 The opera provides one of the few serious subjects the composer tackled and one which critics found to have a persuasive dramatic content An unusual aspect of the work is that the main character a mute girl is performed by a mime or a ballerina The role of ballet in La Muette is important in setting the local scene using dance episodes whether courtly and therefore Spanish as in the guaracha and bolero in act 1 or popular and therefore Neapolitan as in the act 3 tarantella Dance is also innate to the dramatic situation in the extended mime sequences for the mute heroine each with its own specially crafted music and character The music responds to and reflects the vivid and imposing scenic effects based on historical and pictorial research by the great stage designers and painters Cicéri and Daguerre Le Dieu et la Bayadère 1830 set in India was choreographed by Filippo Taglioni Eugène Scribe not only one of the most influential of opera librettists but also a leading figure in the history of ballet wrote the scenario for the danced part which was fairly long and of artistic merit In the ballet scenes of the opera the choreographer one of the most important exponents of dance in the Romantic period was already experimenting with the ideas and style that were to characterize the creations of his prime and of the Romantic ballet as a whole an exotic fairy tale subject often pseudo Medieval or pastoral and strange love affairs with supernatural beings in the theatrical musical and literary taste of the period Above all the Romantic ballet focused on the idealization of the ballerina floating on the tips of her toes a figure of ethereal lyricism All the ballets by Filippo Taglioni were designed to display his daughter Marie's luminous artistic personality The heavily mime oriented role of the bayadère Zolo was one of Marie Taglioni's greatest triumphs Gustave III 1833 based on the assassination of King Gustavus of Sweden in 1792 and also choreographed by Filippo Taglioni was heavily influenced by the impact of the production of Robert le Diable which saw a particular emphasis placed on sets and stage effects The grand and historical nature of this opera is powerfully underscored by the two intercalated ballets The first divertissement comes as early as act 1 and is in the nature of a grand historical pageant based on the life of Gustavus Vasa 1523-60 founder of the present Swedish state before he gained the crown There are two dances illustrating the prince's leadership of the populace of Dalecarlia on the campaign to gain freedom from Denmark The second divertissement is the legendary masked ball of the title at which the king was assassinated in 1792 The spectacle provided by the Opéra was sensational the stage was illuminated by 1600 candles in crystal chandeliers and 300 dancers took part all dressed in different costumes and with 100 dancing the final galop There are six numbers three airs de danse Allemande Pas de folies Menuet two marches and the famous final galop Much time in Le Lac des f es a tale of love between a human and a supernatural being choreographed by Jean Coralli is taken in elaborating the central depiction of popular festivity Indeed the requirements of grand opéra are realized with an original twist in the big act 3 depiction of the Medieval Epiphany celebrations with its attempt at recreating the variety of genre and mood There is a detailed description of the procession through the streets of Cologne organized by the Medieval guilds each preceded by its own standard with choruses It unfolds in several movements the chorus of students Vive la jeunesse the Fête des Rois with its Chant de Noël the whole culminating in a big ballet sequence of four dances 1 Valse des étudiants 2 Pas de Bacchus et Erigone 3 Styrienne and 4 Bacchanale Scribe's stage directions provide vivid details and combine historically informed spectacle pantomime and dance into a single artistic conception L'Enfant prodigue 1850 based on the Biblical parable of the Prodigal Son was choreographed by Arthur Saint-Léon A special aspect of the opera is the dance sequence in act 2 No 10 Scene containing 5 Airs de ballet as part of the celebrations of the sacred bull Apis There are some further danced passages in the opening part of act 3 where the formal operatic elements of prayer drinking song bacchanal and lullaby are integrated with singing and dancing into an artistic whole once again with reference to the venerable French tradition of the opéra-ballet Scribe's scenarios show that the formal dances are either enmeshed in the unfolding of the drama act 2 or use dance an integral element in the thematic ramifications of the plotline in act 3 Zerline ou La Corbeille d'oranges 1851 was choreographed by Joseph Mazilier Act 3 is dominated by the great princely festivities featuring eight dance movements No 15 Airs de Ballet and No 16 Chœur Valse a pallid reminiscence of the great Masked Ball of Gustave in 1832 Auber reused much of the ballet music from act 3 of Le Lac des fées in this elaborate semi-allegorical masque that employs a variety of forms and fuses various types of danced entertainment from classical pas de deux and formal ball through national dance vaudeville and children's routines to carnival Marco Spada ou La Fille du bandit 1857 was choreographed by Joseph Mazilier Scribe's libretto for the opéra-comique Marco Spada which had been produced at the Opéra-Comique in December 1852 with Auber's music met the fundamental requirement of having two important female characters and provided Scribe with the right opportunity to adapt his story to a scenario for dancing So the opéra-comique was transformed into a ballet Auber's only full-length one The music was not an adaptation of the opera but rather a composite score made up of the most striking numbers from several of Auber's works Le Concert la cour Fiorella La Fiancée Fra Diavolo Le Lac des fées L'Ambassadrice Les Diamants de la couronne La Barcarolle Zerline and L'Enfant prodigue The original scenario required elaborate decor and stage machinery which was a factor in this later revival of the work at the Académie de musique on 21 September 1857 In 1857 Auber reworked the score of the opéra-comique Le Cheval de bronze as an opéra-ballet in four acts adding recitatives and extra ballet and ensemble numbers The choreography was by Lucien Petipa The divertissements consisted of 1 a seven movement Pas de quatre in act 1 2 a four movement Danse in act 3 3 and five movement Pas de deux in act 4 This version of the opera has never been published The 20th century saw Auber's music used for three significant ballet arrangements Les Rendezvous is an abstract ballet created in 1933 with choreography by Frederick Ashton the first major ballet created by Ashton for the Vic Wells company It was first performed on Tuesday December 5th 1933 by the Vic Wells Ballet at Sadler's Wells Theatre Premiered in Paris in the year 1949 Grand Pas Classique by Russian choreographer and ballet master Victor Gsovsky 1902-74 is a homage to classical dance Based on musical extracts from the three act ballet Marco Spada 1857 published by the composer as an offshoot of his opera by the same name this pas de deux is a masterpiece of exquisite virtuosity Divertissement d'Auber is set to excerpts from Auber's four most famous and dazzling operatic overtures It is quicksilver joyous music that inspired Lew Christensen's most brilliant and effervescent choreographic style The work showcases the technique of classical ballet at its peak with the form and movement of the choreography running the gamut of the dancer's virtuoso vocabulary Divertissement d'Auber is a staple of Christensen's canon Lloyd's Encyclopaedic Dictionary, 1896 The Cornhill Magazine William Makepeace Thackeray, 1884 The Encyclopaedic Dictionary Robert Hunter, 1894 Universal Dictionary of the English Language Robert Hunter, Charles Morris, 1897 Records of a Girlhood Fanny Kemble, 1879 The American Dictionary and Cyclopaedia Robert Hunter, 1900
