The Origins Of The Cultural Revolution Studies Of The East Asian Institute:

The Origins of the Cultural Revolution Roderick MacFarquhar, Columbia University. East Asian Institute, Royal Institute of International Affairs, Columbia University. Research Institute on Communist Affairs, 1974 The Origins of the Cultural Revolution: Contradictions among the people, 1956-1957 Roderick MacFarquhar, 1974 The Origins of the Cultural Revolution Roderick MacFarquhar, 1999 This volume begins with the great famine of the early 1960s which resulted in tens of millions of deaths setting in train a series of emergency measures which increasingly divided Mao from his comrades in arms China John King Fairbank, Merle Goldman, 2006-04-30 John King Fairbank was the West's doyen on China and this book is the full and final expression of his lifelong engagement with this vast ancient civilization The distinguished historian Merle Goldman brings the book up to date and provides an epilogue discussing the changes in contemporary China that will shape the nation in the years to come Party Vs. State in Post-1949 China Shiping Zheng, 1997-07-13 This book provides the most comprehensive analysis of one of the most important issues in China today the tensions between the Chinese Communist Party and the Chinese state legislative judicial administrative and military institutions Taking the neo institutionalist approach the author suggests that the Communist Party in post 1949 China faces an institutional dilemma the Party cannot live with the state and it cannot live without the state Zheng demonstrates that it is not only conceptually constructive but analytically imperative to distinguish the state from the Communist Party Secondly he integrates detailed study with broader generalizations about Chinese politics thus making efforts to overcome the tendency toward specialized scholarship at the expense of comparative and systemic understanding of China He also opens a new dimension of Chinese politics the uncertain and conflictual relationship between the Communist Party and the Chinese state

The Coming of the Cataclysm, 1961-1966 Roderick MacFarquhar, 1997 This volume begins with the great famine of the early 1960s which resulted in tens of millions of deaths setting in train a series of emergency measures which increasingly divided Mao from his comrades in arms The Origins of the Cultural Revolution Roderick MacFarquhar, 1983 The second volume in a trilogy which examines the politics economics culture and international relations of China from the mid 1950s to the mid 1960s this volume tells the story of the Great Leap Forward Mao's utopian attempt to propel China economically and socially into the twenty-first century by mobilizing his nation's greatest asset its disciplined manpower The effort produced economic disaster and political dissension and helped to precipitate the Sino Soviet split Today's leaders point to it as the beginning of two decades of national trauma which ended only after the death of Mao and the purge of the Gang of Four Those leaders have recently authorized the release of a mass of new documentation in the form of political reminiscences economic statistics and leaders' speeches This volume is the first scholarly work to use the new material comprehensively weaving it into the narrative along with the contemporary record and the revelations published in Red Guard newspapers during the cultural revolution The result is the most detailed account and analysis to date of what went wrong and why The Origins of the Cultural Revolution: Contradictions among the people, 1956-1957 Roderick MacFarquhar, 1974 This is the final volume in a trilogy that examines the politics, personalities, economics, culture and international relations of China from the mid 1950s to the mid 1960s. It seeks to answer the central question: Why did Chairman Mao Zedong launch the Cultural Revolution 1966-76 which plunged China into chaos and almost destroyed its Communist Party? The Coming of the Cataclysm starts with the great famine of the early 1960s which resulted in tens of millions of deaths and set in train a series of emergency measures that increasingly divided Mao from his comrades in arms. His anger that they were prepared to adopt capitalist methods to rescue the country was sharpened by his belief that Moscow had actually gone capitalist and sold out to the imperialist West. From 1961 to 1966 the period covered by this volume, the increasingly urgent question for Mao was how to prevent a similar revolutionary degeneration in China. The Cultural Revolution was his answer. Drawing upon new evidence from Party documents, personal interviews, books and journals, MacFarquhar details the growing rift between Mao and his colleagues as they attempted to cope with domestic privation and an increasingly hostile international environment until the Chairman finally decided to smash the unity of the Yan'an Round Table by unleashing society against the party state. History Education and National Identity in East Asia Edward Vickers, 2013-09-13 Visions of the past are crucial to the way that any community imagines itself and constructs its identity. This edited volume contains the first significant studies of the politics of history education in East Asian societies.

The origins of the Cultural Revolution Roderick Macfarquhar, 1974 The American Historical Association's Guide to Historical Literature American Historical Association, 1995 Contains nearly 2 000 annotated citations primarily in English language works divided into four sections. Looking Back at LBJ Mitchell B. Lerner, 2005 Lyndon Baines Johnson ascended to the presidency in the wake of tragedy to lead the United States through one of its most violent and divisive decades. His troubled presidency was marked by endless controversies over civil rights, the Vietnam War, foreign policy and law and order issues among others. Nearly four decades later, it's now possible to reexamine those controversies to illuminate as never before the achievements and failures of one of the nation's most misunderstood presidents. Drawing upon a wealth of new sources including recently released phone conversations, these authors shine a bright and probing light on LBJ's beleaguered White House tenure. Collectively they reinforce the image of Johnson as a highly complex president whose very real achievements have been overshadowed by character flaws and events well beyond his control. Four chapters focus on LBJ's foreign policies, including a positive appraisal of his handling of the 1964 Panama Crisis but less favorable assessments regarding the downhill slide into Vietnam, the Six Day War and policies toward the communist bloc. Yet the authors generally depict a president who, contrary to conventional views, did not allow his domestic agenda to overshadow his efforts as chief architect of foreign policy. Five other chapters focus on aspects of LBJ's domestic policies that have been largely neglected: women's rights, Native Americans, agriculture civil disorder and fiscal policy Whether responding to urban riots or balancing different versions of the 1964 Farm Bill Johnson emerges as a president who never lost sight of the political ramifications of his actions and whose legacy is often more complicated than is usually recognized All of these writings attest to the complexities of Lyndon Johnson a larger than life leader whose guiding principles can't always be reduced to the catch phrases he himself and others have employed The new perspectives and revelations they provide point students scholars and presidential buffs alike toward a much more enlightened view of this fascinating figure Routledge Handbook of Revolutionary China Alan Baumler,2019-08-12 The Routledge Handbook of Revolutionary China covers the evolution of Chinese society from the roots of the Republic of China in the early 1900s until the end of the Cultural Revolution in 1976 The chapters in this volume explain aspects of the process of revolution and how people adapted to the demands of the revolutionary situation Exploring changes in political leadership as well as transformation in culture it compares the differences in experiences in urban and rural areas and contrasts rapid changes such as the war with Japan and Communist liberation with evolutionary developments such as the gradual redefinition of public space Taking a comprehensive approach the themes covered include War occupation and liberation Religion and gender Education cities and travel This is an essential resource for students and scholars of Modern China Republican China Revolutionary China and Chinese Politics Chapter 20 of this book is freely available as a downloadable Open Access PDF at <http://www.taylorfrancis.com> under a Creative Commons Attribution Non Commercial No Derivatives CC BY 4.0 license A London Bibliography of the Social Sciences ,1981 Vols 1-4 include material to June 1 1929
