The Open Road An African Walking:

The Open Road Ababio O. Ababio, 2001 In Where is America Ababio walks us through his day to day experiences after his return from Africa He brings to fold the cultural mannerisms that despite years in the America are hard to leave behind Through him we see transformations and feel the glorious experience of transcending from alien stranger to citizen From stranger to a member of the American family He reflects on his role as citizen in his new society where success depends on how far one can go and nostalgically crystallizes the pain of leaving native land and detachment from childhood friends who time has dispersed to various parts of the diaspora Yet Where is America is more than a personal journey through the new land It is a portrait of the reality and quest for the American dream From the Hearth to the Open Road Barbara F. Waxman, 1990-05-11 This literary critical book deals exclusively with contemporary fiction by women that focuses on aging of women It discusses the emergence of a new fictional genre the novel of ripening or Reifungsroman This emerging genre about the aging heroine reconceptualizes middle and old age for women taking it from a formerly stereotypical state of passivity and deterioration by the hearthside into one of adventure growth self discovery self affirmation and integration on the open road The book contains an extensive bibliography of twentieth century popular periodical articles on aging Canadian American and British literary critical articles on aging in the fiction of Doris Lessing Alice Adams Paule Marshall Elizabeth Taylor Barbara Pym May Sarton and Margaret Laurence as well as general literary critical works on these authors and some general non literary studies of aging often from a feminist framework such as Simone de Beauvoir's The Coming of Age Using a feminist theoretical approach with some influence from social literary critics such as Lentricchia and Said the book surveys in the first chapter selected popular magazine articles written over this century The next chapter analyzes fiction on middle aged women in works by Doris Lessing and Alice Adams Chapter Three analyzes young old women in works by Barbara Pym Elizabeth Taylor and Paule Marshall The final chapter looks at frail or dependent old women in works by May Sarton and Margaret Laurence This work should be well received by students and scholars engaged in the study of literary criticism women's studies in literature gerontology the life cycle in literature and contemporary women in literature

Walk in My Shoes Andrew Young, Kabir Sehgal, Bill Clinton, 2010-07-14 A top aide to Martin Luther King Jr Andrew Young has been a witness to history and has made his own During the civil rights movement he worked tirelessly as a strategist and negotiator during the campaigns that resulted in the passage of the Civil Rights Act and Voting Rights Act and was at Martin Luther King Jr's side when he was assassinated For years in correspondence and conversation he has been mentoring his godson Kabir Sehgal In this entertaining and provocative discourse Young shares his thoughts and meditations on such important topics as race civil rights faith and leadership Young offers his wisdom on these subjects to a new generation of young men and women in hopes that his battle tested voice will inspire and encourage those in whose hands the world will soon rest Promised Land: Exploring South Africa's Land Conflict Karl Kemp, 2020-10-04 Land reform and the possibility of expropriation without compensation are among the most hotly debated topics in South Africa today met with trepidation and fervour in equal measure But these broader issues tend to obscure a more immediate reality a severe housing crisis and a sharp increase in urban land occupations In Promised Land Karl Kemp travels the country documenting the fallout of failing land reform from the under siege Philippi Horticultural Area deep in the heart of Cape Town's ganglands to the burning mango groves of Tzaneen from Johannesburg's lawless Deep South to rural KwaZulu Natal where chiefs own vast tracts of land on behalf of their subjects He visits farming communities beset by violent crime and provides gripping on the ground reporting of recent land invasions with perspectives from all sides including land activists property owners and government officials Kemp also looks at burning issues surrounding the land debate in South Africa corruption farm murders illegal foreign labour mechanisation and eviction and reveals the views of those affected Touching on the history of land conflict and conquest in each area as well as detailing the current situation on the ground Promised Land provides startling insights into the story of land conflict in South Africa

Walk with Us and Listen Charles Villa-Vicencio, 2009-09-30 Effective peace agreements are rarely accomplished by idealists The process of moving from situations of entrenched oppression armed conflict open warfare and mass atrocities toward peace and reconciliation requires a series of small steps and compromises to open the way for the kind of dialogue and negotiation that make political stability the beginning of democracy and the rule of law a possibility For over forty years Charles Villa Vicencio has been on the front lines of Africa's battle for racial equality In Walk with Us and Listen he argues that reconciliation needs honest talk to promote trust building and enable former enemies and adversaries to explore joint solutions to the cause of their conflicts He offers a critical assessment of the South African experiment in transitional justice as captured in the Truth and Reconciliation Commission and considers the influence of ubuntu in which individuals are defined by their relationships and other traditional African models of reconciliation Political reconciliation is offered as a cautious model against which transitional politics needs to be measured Villa Vicencio challenges those who stress the obligation to prosecute those allegedly guilty of gross violation of human rights replacing this call with the need for more complementarity between the International Criminal Court and African mechanisms to achieve the greater goals of justice and peace building
