The Other Side of a Frontier Victor Sawdon Pritchett, 1984 Fiction of the New Statesman, 1913-1939 Bashir Abu-Manneh, 2011-10-10 Fiction of the New Statesman is the first study of the short stories published in the renowned British journal the New Statesman This book argues that New Statesman fiction advances a strong realist preoccupation with ordinary everyday life and shows how British domestic concerns have a strong hold on the working class and lower middle class imaginative output of this period Reinventing Marie Corelli for the Twenty-First Century Brenda Ayres, Sarah E. Maier, 2019-04-30 With the purpose of introducing Marie Corelli to a new generation of readers and of reconsidering her works for generations familiar with them Reinventing Marie Corelli for the Twenty First Century demonstrates how provocative the author was as a public figure and how controversial and paradoxical were the views about womanhood and the supernatural pitched in her novels This collection of original essays focuses on three major battles that engaged Corelli her personal and public contentions her mercurial constructions of gender and resistance to the New Woman modality and her untenable reconciliation of science with the supernatural Corelli was often fighting several fronts at the same time she rarely was not at war with someone including herself V.S. Stanley Booth was meant to be the authorised biographer of the Rolling Stones but shortly after he began writing in 1968 things started to go wrong. The American concert tour that he joined ended in murder at a race track in the Californian desert and the time that followed in which Booth was assaulted by Hell's Angels, beaten up by American soldiers, run over by a lorry, imprisoned and subjected to epileptic fits while trying to withdraw from drugs was characterised only by confusion, loss and disillusionment. Completed fifteen years after it was begun, The True Adventures of the Rolling Stones is only in part about the group of musicians it depicts. It is also a social history and a confession, a chronicle in the tradition of Michael Herr's Dispatches of people united in a curious commitment to their own destruction.
