Subcommittee on Environment, Technology, and Standards, 2001 Advanced Technology Program National Research Council, Technology and Economic Policy, Board on Science, Technology, and Economic Policy, 1999-10-21 The growth in government programs to support high technology industry within national economies and their impact on international science and technology cooperation and on the multilateral trading system are of considerable interest worldwide. Accordingly these topics were taken up by STEP in a study carried out in conjunction with the Hamburg Institute for Economic Research and the Institute for World Economics in Kiel. One of the principal recommendations for further work emerging from that study was a call for an analysis of the principles of effective cooperation in technology development to include lessons from national and international consortia including eligibility standards and assessments of what new cooperative mechanisms might be developed to meet the challenges of international cooperation in high technology products.
