The Forest of Medieval Romance Corinne J. Saunders, 1993 Traces the development of the forest as a central literary motif in medieval romance Corinne J. Saunders's exploration of the topos of the forest a familiar and ubiquitous motif in the literature of the middle ages is a broad study embracing a range of medieval and Elizabethan texts from the twelfth to the sixteenth centuries the roman d'antiquité Breton lay and courtly romance the hagiographical tradition of the Vita Merlini and the Queste del Saint Graal Spenser and Shakespeare Saunders identifies the forest as a primary romance landscape as a place of adventure love and spiritual vision offers a pleasurable overview of the narrative function of the forest as a literary landscape Based on a close comparative and theoretically non partisan reading of a broad range of literary texts drawn from the European canon Saunders's study explores the continuity and transformation of an important motif in the corpus of medieval literature

MODERN LANGUAGE REVIEW Dr CORINNE SAUNDERSteaches in the Department of English at the University of Durham BLURB EXTRACTED FROM TLS REVIEW An immense tract not only of medieval literature but of human experience is engagingly introduced and presented here Corinne Saunders considers first forests in reality a reality which keeps breaking through in romance She looks also at the classical and biblical models including Virgil Statius and Nebuchadnezzar only then does she turn to the non real and non Classical i.e. the medieval and romantic Here she follows a clear chronological plan from twelfth to fifteenth centuries also covering the allegorized landscape of Spenser and the lovers woods of Arden or Athens in Shakespeare Her text by text layout does justice to the variety of possibilities taken up by different authors the forest as a place where men run mad and turn into animals a place of voluntary suffering a focus of significance in the Grail quests a lovers bower above all and centrally the place where the knight is tested and defined even as with Perceval created Sir Orfeo Oscar Zielke,1879 Havelok and Sir Orfeo Robert Montagu,1954 Boundaries in Medieval Romance Neil Cartlidge,2008 Medieval romance frequently and perhaps characteristically capitalises on the dramatic and suggestive possibilities implicit in boundaries not only the geographical political and cultural frontiers that medieval romances imagine and imply but also more metaphorical demarcations It is these boundaries as they appear in insular romances circulating in English and French which the essays in this volume address They include the boundary between reality and fictionality boundaries between different literary traditions modes and cultures and boundaries between different kinds of experience or perception especially the altered states associated with sickness magic the supernatural or the divine The New Cambridge Bibliography of English Literature: Volume 1, 600-1660 George Watson,Ian Roy Willison,1974-08-29 More than fifty specialists have contributed to this new edition of volume 1 of The Cambridge Bibliography of English Literature The design of the original work has established itself so firmly as a workable solution to the immense problems of analysis articulation and coordination that it has been retained in all its essentials for the new edition The task of the new contributors has been to revise and integrate the lists of 1940 and 1957 to add materials of the following decade to correct and refine the bibliographical details already available and to re shape the whole according to a new series of conventions devised to give greater clarity and consistency to the entries The Facts on File Companion to British Poetry Before 1600 Michelle M.
