Six Year Old Man:

Criminal Or Not Samuel A. Francis, 2002 Francis educates readers about the various offenses that people can be prosecuted for and what to do if one is charged Legal Reference Laws of Human Behavior Donald Pfaff, Sandra Sherman, 2025-03-04 How scientific studies of human behavior can be replicated with the consistency and rigor characteristic of the physical sciences yielding scientific laws In Laws of Human Behavior Donald Pfaff and Sandra Sherman argue that many behavioral and neural discoveries verified over the years through precise reliable measurement are tantamount to laws comparable in rigor and replicability to physical laws such as gravity and the second law of thermodynamics Drawing on research in areas including psychophysics various types of conditioning and habit formation and even social behaviors they show how important aspects of the behavioral sciences contribute to laws that should be celebrated now Responding to what some commentators have called a crisis in reliability the authors make a compelling case for the progress that experimental work in areas formerly labeled as soft science has achieved The book is international in scope References range from the early nineteenth century work of Weber to papers published in 2023 In particular the authors cite important accomplishments in the behavioral and neural sciences of the past few decades that support the characterization of these sciences as exact Each chapter of the book has three parts examples of the law's manifestations in everyday life examples of the laboratory science that supports the law and neurobiological results that further support the validity of the law The book also offers clues for understanding where the field of behavioral science is headed The authors intend for the book to be accessible to interested nonscientists

In The Grand Old Man of Baseball Norman L Macht chronicles Connie Mack s tumultuous final two decades in baseball After Mack had built one of baseball s greatest teams the 1929 31 Philadelphia Athletics the Depression that followed the stock market crash fundamentally reshaped Mack s legacy as his team struggled on the field and at the gate Among the challenges Mack faced a sharp drop in attendance that forced him to sell his star players the rise of the farm system which he was slow to adopt the opposition of other owners to night games which he favored the postwar integration of baseball which he initially opposed a split between the team s heirs Mack s sons Roy and Earle on one side their half brother Connie Jr on the other that tore apart the family and forced Mack to choose unwisely between them and finally the disastrous 1951 54 seasons in which Roy and Earle ran the club to the brink of bankruptcy By now aged and mentally infirm Mack watched in bewilderment as the business he had built fell apart Broke and in debt Roy and Earle feuded over the sale of the team In a never before revealed series of maneuvers Roy double crossed his father and brother and the team was sold and moved to Kansas City in 1954 In Macht s third volume of his trilogy on Mack he describes the physical mental and financial decline of Mack s final years which unfortunately became a classic American tragedy

Contingent Lives Caroline H. Bledsoe,2010-11-15

Most women in the West use contraceptives in order to avoid having children But in rural Gambia and other parts of sub Saharan Africa many women use contraceptives for the opposite reason to have as many children as possible Using ethnographic and demographic data from a three year study in rural Gambia Contingent Lives explains this seemingly counterintuitive fact by juxtaposing two very different understandings of the life course one is a linear Western model that equates aging and the ability to reproduce with the passage of time the other a Gambian model that views aging as contingent on the cumulative physical social and spiritual hardships of personal history especially obstetric trauma Viewing each of these two models from the perspective of the other Caroline Bledsoe produces fresh understandings of the classical anthropological subjects of reproduction time and aging as culturally shaped within women s conjugal lives Her insights will be welcomed by scholars of anthropology and demography as well as by those working in public health development studies gerontology and the history of medicine
