The Poets Pain:

The poets pain Andreas Ennulat, 2003 The Poetry of Shell Shock Daniel Hipp, 2005-07-28 The British poets Wilfred Owen Ivor Gurney and Siegfried Sassoon found themselves psychologically altered by what they experienced in the First World War Owen was hospitalized in April 1917 for shell shock in Scotland where he met Siegfried Sassoon in June of that year hospitalized for the same affliction Ivor Gurney found the war ironically to have been a place of relative stability within an otherwise tormented life When he was wounded during the war's final year his doctors observed signs of mental illness which evolved into incapacitating psychosis by 1922 For each of these men all poets before the war poetry served as a way to inscribe continuity into their lives enabling them to retaliate against the war's propensity to render the lives of the participants discontinuous Poetry allowed them to return to the war through memory and imagination and poetry helped them to bring themselves back from psychological breakdown to a state of stability based upon a relationship to the war that their literary war enabled them to create and discover This work investigates the ways in which the poetry of war functioned as a means for these three men to express the inexpressible and to extract value out of the experience of war Bibliography and index are also included Instructors considering this book for use in a course may request an examination copy here

Witness in the Era of Mass Incarceration Doran Larson, 2017-07-17 Witness in the Era of Mass Incarceration works from the premise that if the law establishes and maintains both its practical and symbolic authority on the basis of its monopoly on legally sanctioned violence and the suffering threatened and delivered by such violence then we cannot know the full human cost or concrete moral status of any legal state without human witness to the depth and manner of suffering meted out by such violence The prison writer stands in the position to offer such witness The prison writer knows the law's violence in the flesh For every other writer reflection upon the degree and manner of suffering meted out under legal sanction that is reflection upon the full human cost of the contemporary legal order is necessarily speculative In close readings of first person witness from prisons in the U S Ireland and Africa Witness in the Era of Mass Incarceration discovers literary tropes that chart at once local national and transnational conditions of carceral experience the extant conditions of legalized suffering In exhibiting the labor required to move from institutionalized abjection to the minimum requirements of rights bearing personhood this witness offers the sole credible vision of the possibility of a post carceral understanding of freedom The Poets and the Poetry of the Century Alfred Henry Miles, 1898 The poets and the poetry of the century, ed. by A.H. Miles. [2 other copies of vol.8]. Alfred Henry Miles, 1898 The poems of William Drummond, ed. by W.C. Napier Samuel Johnson, 1890 A Library of Religious Poetry Philip Schaff, Arthur Gilman, 1880 Religious poetry is the holy of holies of literature In all ages poets have been the interpreters of the finer feelings of humanity and the greatest have treated the loftiest themes that can employ the mind and the heart the relation of man to his Maker and the duties and privileges which arise from it It has been the aim of the editors to make the present collection truly catholic It embraces a body of representative poems of all ages denominations and countries The authors are allowed the fullest liberty of uttering their sentiments in their own words Preface The Poets of Methodism Samuel Woolcock Christophers,1875 The Dramatic Works and Poems of William Shakespeare William Shakespeare,1871

Reconstructing the Canon Arnold Barrett McMillin,2000 First Published in 2004 Routledge is an imprint of Taylor Francis an informa company Poetry into Song Deborah Stein,Robert Spillman,2010-06-10 Focusing on the music of the great song composers Schubert Schumann Brahms Wolf and Strauss Poetry Into Song offers a systematic introduction to the performance and analysis of Lieder Part I The Language of Poetry provides chapters on the themes and imagery of German Romanticism and the methods of analysis for German Romantic poetry Part II The Language of the Performer deals with issues of concern to performers texture temporality articulation and interpretation of notation and unusual rhythm accents and stresses Part III provides clearly defined analytical procedures for each of four main chapters on harmony and tonality melody and motive rhythm and meter and form The concluding chapter compares different settings of the same text and the volume ends with several appendices that offer text translations over 40 pages of less accessible song scores a glossary of technical terms and a substantial bibliography Directed toward students in both voice and theory and toward all singers the authors establish a framework for the analysis of song based on a process of performing listening and analyzing designed to give the reader a new understanding of the reciprocal interaction between performance and analysis Emphasizing the masterworks the book features numerous poetic texts as well as a core repertory of songs Examples throughout the text demonstrate points while end of chapter questions reinforce concepts and provide opportunities for directed analysis While there are a variety of books on Lieder and on German Romantic poetry none combines performance musical analysis textual analysis and the interrelation between poetry and music in the systematic thorough way of Poetry Into Song Arabic and Hebrew Love Poems in Al-Andalus Shari Lowin,2013-11-20 Arabic and Hebrew Love Poems in al Andalus investigates a largely overlooked subset of Muslim and Jewish love poetry in medieval Spain hetero and homo erotic love poems written by Muslim and Jewish religious scholars in which the lover and his sensual experience of the beloved are compared to scriptural characters and storylines This book examines the ways in which the scriptural referents fit in with or differ from the traditional Andalusian poetic conventions The study then proceeds to compare the scriptural stories and characters as presented in the poems with their scriptural and exegetical sources This new intertextual analysis reveals that the Jewish and Muslim scholar poets utilized their sacred literature in their poems of desire as more than poetic ornamentation in employing Qur'anic heroes in their secular verses the Muslim poets presented a justification of profane love and sanctification of erotic human passions In the Hebrew lust poems which utilize biblical heroes we can detect subtle subversive and surprisingly placed interpretations of biblical accounts Moving beyond the concern with literary history to challenge the traditional boundaries between secular and religious poetry this book provides a new multidisciplinary approach to existing materials and will be of interest to students scholars and researchers of Islamic and Jewish Studies as well as to those with an interest in Hebrew and Arabic poetry of Islamic Spain
