[With Plates.]* Sir Leslie STEPHEN,1936      The Playground of Europe Sir Leslie Stephen,2013-09 This historic book may have numerous typos and missing text Purchasers can usually download a free scanned copy of the original book without typos from the publisher Not indexed Not illustrated 1894 edition Excerpt 303 CHAPTER XIII THE REGRETS OF A MOUNTAINEER I Have often felt a sympathy which almost rises to the pathetic when looking on at a cricket match or boatrace Something of the emotion with which Gray regarded the distant spires and antique towers rises within me It is not indeed that I feel very deeply for the fine ingenuous lads who as somebody says are about to be degraded into tricky selfish Members of Parliament I have seen too much of them They are very fine animals but they are rather too exclusively animal The soul is apt to be in too embryonic a state within these cases of well strung bone and muscle It is impossible for a mere athletic machine however finely constructed to appeal very deeply to one s finer sentiments I can scarcely look forward with even an affectation of sorrow for the time when if more sophisticated it will at least have made a nearer approach to the dignity of an intellectual being It is not the boys who make me feel a touch of sadness their approaching elevation to the dignity of manhood will raise them on the whole in the scale of humanity it is the older spectators whose aspect has in it something affecting The shaky old gentleman who played in the days when it was decidedly less dangerous to stand up to bowling than to a cannonball and who now hobbles about on rheumatic joints by the help of a stick the corpulent elder who rowed when boats had gangways down their middle and did not require as delicate a balance as an acrobat s at the top of a living pyramid these are the persons whom I cannot see without an occasional sigh They are really conscious that they have lost something which they can never regain or if they momentarily forget it it is even more forcibly      The Playground of Europe ,2020-03-14      The Playground of Europe (Classic Reprint) Leslie Stephen,2017-10-11 Excerpt from The Playground of Europe A highly intelligent Swiss guide once gazed with me upon the dreary expanse of chimney pots through which the south western Railway escapes from this dingy metropolis Fancying that I rightly interpreted his looks as symptomatic of the proverbial homesickness of mountaineers I remarked with an appropriate sigh That is not so fine a view as we have seen together from the top of Mont Blanc Ah sir was his pathetic reply it is far finer This frank avowal set me thinking Were my most cherished prejudices folly or was my favourite guide a fool A question not to be asked Yet very similar shocks as has often been remarked await the student of early Alpine literature About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books Find more at www.forgottenbooks.com This book is a reproduction of an important historical work Forgotten Books uses state of the art technology to digitally reconstruct the work preserving the original format whilst repairing imperfections present in the aged copy In rare cases an imperfection in the original such as a blemish or missing page may be replicated in our edition We do however repair the vast majority of imperfections successfully any imperfections that remain are intentionally left to preserve the state of such historical works

Simon Thompson,2012-03-06 To the impartial observer Britain does not appear to have any mountains Yet the British invented the sport of mountain climbing and for two periods in history British climbers led the world in the pursuit of this beautiful and dangerous obsession Unjustifiable Risk is the story of the social economic and cultural conditions that gave rise to the sport and the achievements and motives of the scientists and poets parsons and anarchists villains and judges ascetics and drunks that have shaped its development over the past two hundred years The history of climbing inevitably reflects the wider changes that have occurred in British society including class gender nationalism and war but the sport has also contributed to changing social attitudes to nature and beauty heroism and death Over the years increasing wealth leisure and mobility have gradually transformed climbing from an activity undertaken by an eccentric and privileged minority into a sub division of the leisure and tourist industry while competition improved technology and information and increasing specialisation have helped to create climbs of unimaginable difficulty at the leading edge of the sport But while much has changed even more has remained the same Today s climbers would be instantly recognisable to their Victorian predecessors with their desire to escape from the crowded complexity of urban society and willingness to take unjustifiable risk in pursuit of beauty adventure and self fulfilment Unjustifiable Risk was shortlisted for the Boardman Tasker prize in 2011
