The Politics Of Defence:

The politics of defence David Owen,1968 The Politics of Defense Analysis Ralph Sanders,1973 The Politics of Economic Regionalism David Francis,2017-11-01 This title was first published in 2001 The primary objective of this book is to provide an analytical understanding of the nature dynamics and complexity of the politics of economic regionalism through the prism of Sierra Leone in the Economic Community of West African States ECOWAS The book also discusses the following issues the evolution of economic regionalism in West Africa and the conceptual framework for analysis the expansion of the economic regionalism developments within the West Africa sub region with that of the transformation of the global economy and international political system political economic and security developments within ECOWAS and the civil war in Sierra Leone

National Missile Defense and the Politics of US Identity Natalie Bormann,2008-12-15 Why adopt a poststructural lens for the reading of the military strategy of national missile defence NMD No doubt when contemplating an attack on US territory by intercontinental ballistic missiles consulting Michel Foucault and critical international relations theory scholars may not seem the obvious route to take The answer to this lies in another question why has there been so much interest and continuous investment in NMD deployment when there is such ambiguity surrounding the status of threat to which it responds controversy over its technological feasibility and concern about its cost Posed in this manner the question cannot be answered on its own terms the terms given in official accounts of NMD that justify the system's significance on the basis of strategic feasibility studies and conventional threat predictions guided by worst case scenarios Instead this book argues that the preferences leading to NMD deployment must be understood as satisfying requirements beyond strategic approaches and issues In turning towards the interpretative modes of inquiry provided by critical social theory and poststructuralism this book contests the conventional wisdom about NMD and suggests reading the strategy in terms of US identity Presented as an analysis of discourses on threats to national security around which the need for NMD deployment is predominantly framed this book is an effort to let the two fields of critical international relations theory and US foreign policy speak directly to each other It seeks to do so by showing how the concept of identity can be harnessed to an analysis of a contemporary military strategic practice

Atlantic Politics, Military Strategy and the French and Indian War Richard Hall,2016-06-28 1755 marked the point at which events in America ceased to be considered subsidiary affairs in the great international rivalry that existed between the colonial powers of Great Britain and France This book examines the Braddock Campaign of 1755 a segment of the wider Braddock Plan that aimed to drive the French from all of the contested regions they occupied in North America Rather than being an archetypal military history styled analysis of General Edward Braddock's foray into the Ohio Valley this work will argue that British defeat at the infamous Battle of the Monongahela should be viewed as one that ultimately embodied military political and diplomatic divergences and weaknesses within the British Atlantic World of the eighteenth century These factors in turn hinted at growing schisms in the empire that would lead to the breakup of British North America in the 1770s and the birth of the future United States Such an interpretation moves away from the conclusion so often advanced that Braddock's Defeat was a distinctly and principally British martial catastrophe hence allowing the outcome of this pivotal event in American history to be understood in a different vein than has hitherto been apparent

Security Barry Buzan,Ole Wæver,Jaap de Wilde,1998 Sets out a comprehensive framework of analysis for security studies examining the distinctive character and dynamics of security in five sectors military political economic environmental and societal It rejects traditionalists case for restricting security in one sector arguing that security is a particular type of politics applicable to a wide range of issues and offers a constructivist operational method for distinguishing the process of securitization from that of politicization Annotation copyrighted by Book News Inc Portland OR

The Saturday Review of Politics, Literature, Science and Art ,1856 The Politics of Defence Budgeting Michael D. Hobkirk,1984 World War II exposed weaknesses in the management of defense resources leading the United Kingdom in 1946 and the United States in 1947 to centralize their defense organizations Although each organization has evolved differently both share the problem of interservice rivalry over resource allocation to competing service missions and weapons systems Michael Hobkirk a Ministry of Defense Under Secretary now retired argues that this intramural rivalry obstructs coherent defense planning His examination of the bureaucratic politics of resource allocation in the Ministry of Defence and the Department of Defense points up the strengths and weaknesses of both structures Combining the best features of each system he proposes a hypothetical ideal defense organization Such an organization would include a powerful central staff a planning programming budgeting system with functional categories for specific service tasks a long term budget system for future planning and most important a permanent cadre of civilian staff at the highest level In an era of ever more constrained resources and changing strategic requirements the need for maximum benefit from resources expended remains self evident This study should help defense planners students of organizational theory and those who would better understand the defense policies of our allies

The Saturday Review of Politics, Literature, Science and Art ,1930 Randolph Bourne and the Politics of Cultural Radicalism Leslie J. Vaughan,1997 Reassesses the short life and career of American essayist critic and founder of cultural radicalism Bourne 1886 1918 known today mostly for his opposition to US military involvement in Europe and warnings about the military industrial complex Vaughan political science U of Minnesota Duluth argues that his stance from outside establishment perspectives was not a retreat from politics as many have claimed but a form of political engagement free from the suppositions that impede genuine debate and democratic change Annotation copyrighted by Book News Inc Portland OR

The Politics of German Defence and Security Tom Dyson,2008-03-01 The post Cold War era has witnessed a dramatic transformation in the German political consensus about the legitimacy of the use of force However in comparison with its EU and NATO partners Germany has been reticent to transform its military to meet the challenges of the contemporary security environment Until 2003 territorial defence rather than crisis management remained the armed forces core role and the Bundeswehr continues to retain conscription The book argues that strategic culture provides only a partial explanation of German military reform It demonstrates how domestic material factors were of crucial importance in shaping the pace and outcome of reform despite the impact of international structure and adaptational pressures from the EU and NATO The domestic politics of base closures ramifications for social policy financial restrictions consequent upon German unification and commitment to EMU s Stability and Growth Pact were critical in determining the outcome of reform The study also draws out the important role of policy leaders in the political management of reform as entrepreneurs brokers or veto players shifting the focus in German leadership studies away from a preoccupation with the Chancellor to the role of ministerial and administrative leadership within the core executive Finally the book contributes to our understanding of the Europeanization of the German political system arguing that policy leaders played a key role in uploading and downloading processes to and from the EU and that Defence Ministers used Atlanticization and Europeanization in the interests of their domestic political agendas
