The Pitch:

Queering the Pitch Philip Brett, Elizabeth Wood, Gary C. Thomas, 2006 Publisher description Prediction of the Pitch-damping Coefficients Using Sacks' Relations Paul Weinacht, James E. Danberg, 2004 Throughout its development slender body theory has been generalized to predict a large variety of aerodynamic coefficients for a wide class of flight bodies For most applications slender body theory provides only a qualitative predictive capability There is however a set of slender body relationships which has been previously derived by Sacks that allows the individual pitchdamping coefficients and the pitch damping coefficient sums to be related to each other Until recently it has been difficult to assess the accuracy of these relationships due to the lack of high quality pitch damping data or the lack of a higher order theory The current work applies a recently developed computational fluid dynamics capability for predicting all three pitch damping coefficients From this analysis the accuracy of these relationships has been assessed and their engineering significance demonstrated One important result is that the pitch damping relations developed by Sacks allow the individual pitch damping coefficients to be determined from the pitch damping coefficient sum with a high degree of accuracy Mastering the pitch Robin De Cock, 2025-04-09 In a world full of potential yet plagued by inactivity your ability to pitch is your passport to change Whether you re navigating the rigid corridors of a corporate giant or laying the groundwork for your first start up the art of pitching is the key to transforming your vision into reality Mastering the pitch is not just another guide on how to sell an idea based on the anecdotes of one influential person It s a comprehensive toolkit grounded in robust academic research and enriched by first hand insights from industry leaders top investors serial entrepreneurs and innovation executives This book distills years of knowledge and practical experience equipping you with the strategies to effectively communicate your ideas captivate your audience and secure the resources necessary to make a meaningful impact Inside you ll discover Proven techniques to structure and deliver compelling pitches Insights from over 100 blogs and 100 academic articles on pitching Real world examples that demonstrate what works Expert advice from interviews with seasoned professionals who have walked the path before you Don t let your brilliant ideas fade into obscurity Learn how to make them resonate rally support and ignite change in your organisation community or beyond Whether you re a student a corporate innovator or an aspiring entrepreneur Mastering the pitch will empower you to harness your creativity and drive action Step into the world of effective pitching and watch as your ideas take flight Your journey to impact starts here ABOUT THE AUTHOR Robin De Cock is an Associate Professor at Antwerp Management School and a specialist in innovation and entrepreneurship He teaches entrepreneurial strategy and directs the Master in Sustainable Innovation Author of Mastering the Pitch he offers a science based approach to pitching grounded in research and expert insights Awarded Best Teacher he also lectures at ETH Zurich and advises startups and institutions on innovation strategy and technology transfer His work bridges academic research and real world entrepreneurial practice Machinery Fred Herbert Colvin, Lester Gray French, 1935 House documents ,1893 The
