The Pleasure Of Miss Pym:

The Pleasure of Miss Pym Charles Burkhart, The Pleasure of Miss Pym Charles Burkhart, 1987-05-01 When British writers Philip Larkin and Lord David Cecil named Barbara Pym one of the twentieth century's most underrated authors in a 1977 Times Literary Supplement survey they started a Barbara Pym revival that continued unabated in Great Britain and the United States. Barbara Pym's delightful tales of jumble sales and parish meetings, her ironic insights into the relationships between women and men, have won a devoted following. Indeed, she is often compared to that most accomplished author of comedies of manners, Jane Austen. The Pleasure of Miss Pym is a critical study of Pym as comic writer and of the links between her life and autobiographical writings and her fiction, written with a liveliness of style and tone that matches Pym's own. Not only does Charles Burkhart provide perceptive discussions of Pym's life and novels, he also illuminates the worldview represented in her work: the unique nature of her comedy, her religion, her place within the history of the novel, and her penetrating insights into male-female relationships. All of Pym's work, including the 1986 posthumous publication An Academic Question, is intelligently surveyed here. Scholars of contemporary English literature will derive both instruction and pleasure from this elegantly written study, as will Pym's admiring readers for whom it is also intended.

Culture Writing Tim Watson, 2018-01-19 Focusing on the 1950s and early 1960s, Culture Writing argues that this period in Britain, the United States, France, and the Caribbean was characterized by dynamic exchanges between literary writers and anthropologists on both sides of the Atlantic. As the British and French empires collapsed and the United States rose to global power in the early Cold War, and as intellectuals from the decolonizing world challenged the cultural hegemony of the West, some anthropologists began to assess their discipline's complicity with empire and experimented with literary forms and technique. Culture Writing shows that the literary turn in anthropology took place earlier than has conventionally been assumed: in the 1950s rather than the 1970s and 80s. Simultaneously, some literary writers reacted to the end of the period of modernist experimentation by turning to ethnographic methods for representing the people and cultural practices of Britain, France, and the United States, bringing anthropology back home. There is analysis of literary writers who had a significant professional engagement with anthropology and brought some of its techniques and research questions into literary composition: Barbara Pym, Britain; Ursula Le Guin and Saul Bellow, United States; Claude Lévi-Strauss, France; and Michel Leiris, France. On the side of ethnography, the book analyzes works by anthropologists who either explicitly or surreptitiously adopted literary forms for their writing about culture: Laura Bohannon, United States; Michel Leiris and Claude Lévi-Strauss, France; and Mary Douglas, Britain. Culture Writing concludes with an epilogue that shows how the literature-anthropology conversation continues into the postcolonial period in the work of Indian author-anthropologist Amitav Ghosh and Jamaican author-sociologist Erna Brodber.

The Reality behind Barbara Pym's Excellent Women Robin R. Joyce, 2023-02-20 This book analyses Barbara Pym's published and unpublished work through a new image: that of the troublesome woman. It details the political nature of her work highlighting her feminist ideas which are hidden in village like settings and revealed by troublesome women By exploring Pym s written work published and unpublished diaries and notebooks the book shows that this material gives credence to Hilary Pym s interpretation of her sister as a complex person Beatrice Goes to Brighton M.C.

Beaton,2011-03-24 The fourth book in M C Beaton s charming Travelling Matchmaker series The unsinkable Miss Pym returns to the English stagecoach in search of adventure and troubled hearts and with her delightful schemes and discerning eye she never fails to strike a match by journey s end Lady Beatrice Marsham is in quite a coil No sooner is she widowed from a brutish gambling husband than her heartless family is forcing her into another horrid marriage Fleeing by stagecoach to the Brighton seaside the proud beauty meets Miss Hannah Pym who is determined to find her a proper match The handsome and kind Lord Alistair Munro would be perfect Unfortunately he is convinced of the ton gossip that proclaims Lady Beatrice a cruel flirt Miss Pym however is not worried The lady s hard heart has softened much since coming to Brighton and though Lord Alistair disapproves of the old Lady Beatrice by Miss Pym s clever design he is sure to fall in love with the new and improved model Romance fans are in for a treat Booklist M C Beaton is the best of the Regency writers Kirkus Reviews
