The Poetry Quartets 5:

The Poetry Quartets - 5 ,1998     Midcentury Quartet Thomas J. Travisano,1999-12-29 In a February 1966 letter to her artistic confidant Robert Lowell Elizabeth Bishop tellingly grouped four midcentury poets Lowell Randall Jarrell John Berryman and herself For Bishop always wary of being pigeonholed and therefore reticent about naming her favorite contemporaries it was a rare explicit acknowledgment of an informal but enduring artistic circle that has evaded the notice of literary journalists for more than forty years Despite the private nature of their dialogue the group's members Bishop Lowell Jarrell and Berryman left a compelling record of their mutual interchange and influence Drawing on an extensive range of published and archival sources Thomas Travisano traces these poets' creation of a surprisingly coherent postmodern aesthetic and defines its continuing influence on American poetry The refusal of this midcentury quartet as Travisano calls them to voice a formalized doctrine coupled with their intuitive way of working has caused critics to miss the coherence of their project Travisano argues that these poets are not only successors to Pound Auden Stevens and Eliot but postmodern explorers in their own right In forging their own aesthetic characterized here as a postmodern mode of elegy they encountered significant resistance from their immediate modernist mentors Allen Tate John Crowe Ransom and Marianne Moore Jarrell whom others of the group regarded as a critic of particular genius was first described as a postmodernist in a 1941 review by Ransom that Travisano cites as the earliest known use of the term In Jarrell's review of Lowell's Lord Weary's Castle six years later he named Lowell a postmodernist and identified traits among them the use of pastiche that are now considered by theorists such as Fredric Jameson as specifically postmodern And Bishop's inventiveness allowed her to adapt a self-exploratory mode often but imprecisely termed confessional to challenging forms such as the double sonnet villanelle and sestina Each of these poets suffered a devastating loss during childhood and lived through the twentieth century disasters of the Great Depression World War II and the Holocaust and the cold war The continual tension in their poetry between subjectivity and form claims Travisano reflects the plight of the fractured individual in a postmodern world By arguing so sharply for the importance of this circle Midcentury Quartet is certain to redraw the map of postwar American poetry     An Educational Game of Composers, Musical Literature and the Elements of Criticism Wilber M. The New Cambridge Bibliography of English Literature: Volume 4, 1900-1950 George Watson, I. R. Willison, 1972-12-07 More than fifty specialists have contributed to this new edition of volume 4 of The Cambridge Bibliography of English Literature The design of the original work has established itself so firmly as a workable solution to the immense problems of analysis articulation and coordination that it has been retained in all its essentials for the new edition The task of the new contributors has been to revise and integrate the lists of 1940 and 1957 to add materials of the following decade to correct and refine the bibliographical details already available and to reshape the whole according to a new series of conventions devised to give greater clarity and consistency to the entries     British Literature and Culture in

Second World Wartime Beryl Pong,2020-05-14 British Literature and Culture in Second World Wartime excavates British late modernism's relationship to war in terms of chronophobia a joint fear of the past and future As a wartime between but distinct from those of the First World War and the Cold War Second World wartime involves an anxiety that is both repetition and imaginary both a dread of past violence unleashed anew and that of a future violence still ungraspable Identifying a constellation of temporalities and affects under three tropes time capsules time zones and ruins this volume contends that Second World wartime is a pivotal moment when wartime surpassed the boundaries of a specific state of emergency becoming first routine and then open ended It offers a synoptic wide ranging look at writers on the home front including Henry Green Elizabeth Bowen Virginia Woolf and Rose Macaulay through a variety of genres such as life writing the novel and the short story It also considers an array of cultural and archival material from photographers such as Cecil Beaton filmmakers such as Charles Crichton and artists such as John Minton It shows how figures harnessed or exploited their media's temporal properties to formally register the distinctiveness of this wartime through a complex feedback between anticipation and retrospection oftentimes fashioning the war as a memory even while it was taking place While offering a strong foundation for new readers of the mid century the book's overall theoretical focus on chronophobia will be an important intervention for those already working in the field
