Transformation of Sydney's Industrial Historic Waterfront Ece Kaya, 2019-09-26 This book examines the impacts of tourism led transformations on the industrial historical waterfront at Darling Harbour and The Rocks in Sydney Australia in the context of urban restructuring and deindustrialisation The book also offers an extended reflection on the paradoxes between tourism and heritage This discussion is not a new concept However this book critically explores the significance of the industrial heritage assets of these areas and the implications of the transformation procedures Although Darling Harbour and The Rocks have generally been considered success stories of transformation with mixed touristic recreational residential and commercial activities this book examines and evaluates how industrial history and heritage values have been affected It demonstrates that tourism leisure led developments create urban landscapes in which cultural identity and historical assets are sacrificed and or reinvented Exploring the Archaeology of the Modern City in Nineteenth-century Australia Tim

Murray, Penny Crook, 2019-11-05 This book presents research into the urban archaeology of 19th century Australia It focuses on the detailed archaeology of 20 cesspits in The Rocks area of Sydney and the Commonwealth Block site in Melbourne It also includes discussions of a significant site in Sydney First Government House The book is anchored around a detailed comparison of contents of 20 cesspits created during the 19th century and examines patterns of similarity and dissimilarity presenting analyses that work towards an integration of historical and archaeological data and perspectives The book also outlines a transnational framework of comparison that assists in the larger context related to building a truly global archaeology of the modern city This framework is directly related a multi scalar approach to urban archaeology Historical archaeologists have been advocating the need to explore the archaeology of the modern city using several different scales or frames of reference The most popular and most basic of these has been the household However it has also been acknowledged that interpreting the archaeology of households beyond the notion that every household and associated archaeological assemblage is unique requires archaeologists and historians to compare and contrast and to establish patterns These comparisons frequently occur at the level of the area or district in the same city where archaeologists seek to derive patterns that might be explained as being the result of status class ethnicity or ideology Other less frequent comparisons occur at larger scales for example between cities or countries acknowledging that the archaeology of the modern western city is also the archaeology of modern global forces of production consumption trade immigration and ideology formation This book makes a contribution to that general literature Excel School Certificate Australian History, Civics and Citizenship Ken Webb, 2003 History, Theory and Philosophy in Archaeology Tim Murray, 2025-02-03 This collection of essays the bulk of which have been previously published by Emeritus Professor Tim Murray ranges widely across contemporary archaeological theory and the history of archaeology while retaining a focus on the archaeology of Australia The collection is introduced by a new essay The evolution of archaeological theory that sets the agenda for the collection In doing this Murray explores the critical intersection between archaeology philosophy and the social and cultural context of its practice in Australia and elsewhere The collection brings together ideas about time scale and strategies for the evaluation of archaeological concepts and categories which are then applied to an understanding of significant issues raised by writing the archaeology of Australia from the Pleistocene to the present The essays have been drawn from over 30 years of research and writing about archaeological inquiry into the theories and methods of the discipline and will be of particular interest to archaeologists historians the managers of archaeological heritage and advocates of the importance of indigenous perspectives on the histories of post colonial societies The Historic Rocks Area of Sydney Cedric Emanuel,1974
