Gun & Rifle Manufacturer: A Family History Stephen Grist,2025-07-06 When in July 2003 John and Tom Wilkes closed their sporting gun and rifle making business in the heart of London s Soho they ended a business that had traded continuously for over 180 years through five consecutive generations of the same family The founder Joseph Wilkes was a maker of pistols initially flintlock who worked in the gunmaking quarter in Birmingham through most the first half of the 19th century By 1850 the firm had established a presence in London as well and during the decade that followed switched its focus to the fast emerging skill of making actions for breech loading guns and rifles The development and perfection of the design for these weapons was to drive the trade in both centres for the remainder of the century and well into the next In 1895 John Wilkes Joseph s grandson and the then head of the business with 20 years of bench work experience in London behind him most recently as J D Dougall s factory manager decided to steer the family firm away from outwork making all or major parts of guns to be sold and branded by others to in house making for sale under his own name He set up his base in Soho the leading artisan craft village community working close to the centre of the capital With gunmaking skills in London in short supply for much of the 20th century Wilkes soon found that they were drawing in out worker jobs from all the prestigious London gunmaking firms Some major changes were made during the 20th century the Birmingham branch was closed the people involved switched to working for London on an outwork basis and three generations of the family took their turn to lead the business But the firm stayed in Soho and kept the arrangement whereby the shop workshop and office were all at one address and for the last 80 years this was at 79 Beak Street The material for book has been drawn from the firm's extensive surviving records but because of the volume of out work that was coming in it is as much about the operation of the London and Birmingham Gun Trades in 20th century as it is about the details of the John Wilkes business itself It also throws new light on a generation of master craftsmen who were the powerhouse of the trade in both its centres in the inter war years all of whom had dealings of one sort or another with John Wilkes The 20th century was to become a period throughout which the Wilkes firm survived whilst many of their competitors did not This book by expert Stephen Grist sets out some of the reasons why
