

But all the people on the Earth were doing badly,
so God decided to send a Flood that would wipe out evil.

However, there was one good man on Earth.
His name was Noah, and God trusted him.

God decided that he would save Noah
by telling him that the Flood was coming, and that Noah should build a really big boat, called an ark.

After Noah had built the ark, God told him to put two of every animal on the Earth in it, both male and female.

His family, and the animals were all safely on the ark,
and it kept floating for forty days and nights.

God destroyed the Earth. Every living thing on the Face of the Earth died except for Noah, his family, and the animals who were safe in the ark.

As the ark came out, the waters started to dry up, and the ark came to rest on a mountain. Noah sent out a dove to find dry land, but it came straight back.

A convincing explanation of why interactive or movable books should be included in the library collection that documents their value as motivational instructional tools in all areas of the school curriculum across many grade levels. Pop up books possess universal appeal. Everyone from preschoolers to adults loves to see and tactilely experience the beautiful three dimensional work of Robert Sabuda. David A. Carter and other pop up book creators. Sabuda himself was inspired to become a pop up book artist after experiencing the 1972 classic pop up The Adventures of Super Pickle. The effect of these movable books on young minds is uniquely powerful. Besides riveting children's attention, pop up books can also help build motor skills, teach cause and effect, and develop spatial understanding of objects. Based on their direct experience and many presentations to teachers and librarians, the authors have provided template lesson plans with curriculum and standards links for using the best pop up books currently available in the instructional program of the school. The book also includes profiles of the most notable authors, a history of the format, definitions of terms such as flap book and paper engineer, and information on how to create movable books. Librarians will find the section regarding collection development with the format, how and where to acquire them, proper storage methods, and the annotated listing of the authors' 50 favorite pop ups extremely helpful.
