Fifteen years implementing the Right to Food Guidelines Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations, 2019-09-26 The Right to Food Guidelines provide practical guidance on ways to implement the right to adequate food in a wide range of policy and programmes areas through a human rights based approach Since the adoption of the Right to Food Guidelines FAO and its partners have produced a wealth of tools strengthened capacity and facilitated multi stakeholder dialogues worldwide But the goal of realizing the right to food of everyone is not accomplished yet over 820 million people are currently suffering from chronic hunger This fifteen Year Retrospective on the Right to Food Guidelines helps us look back and understand what has worked and why where the bottlenecks lie and how governments and their partners can be most effective in the fight against hunger and malnutrition

The EU, World Trade Law and the Right to Food Giovanni Gruni, 2018-08-09 In recent years the European Union has developed a comprehensive strategy to conclude free trade agreements which includes not only prominent trade partners such as Canada the United States and Japan but also numerous developing countries This book looks at the existing WTO law and at the new EU free trade agreements with the Caribbean and sub Saharan Africa through the lens of the human right to adequate food It shows how the clauses on the import and export of food included in recent free trade agreements limit the capacity of these countries to implement food security policies and to respect their human rights obligations This outcome appears to be at odds with international human rights law and dismissive of existing human rights references in EU founding treaties as well as in treaties between the EU and developing states Yet the book argues against the conception in human rights literature that there is an inflexible agenda encoded in world trade law which is fundamentally conflictual with non economic interests The book puts forward the idea that the European Union is perfectly placed to develop a narrative of globalisation considering other areas of public international law when negotiating trade agreements and argues that the EU does have the competences and influence to uphold a role of international leadership in designing a sustainable global trading system Will the EU be ambitious enough A timely contribution to the growing academic literature on the relation between world trade law and international human rights law this book imagines a central role for the EU in reconciling these two areas of international law

Gender, Nutrition, and the Human Right to Adequate Food Anne C. Bellows,Flavio L.S. Valente,Stefanie Lemke,María Daniela Núñez Burbano de Lara,2015-12-07 This book introduces the human right to adequate food and nutrition as evolving concept and identifies two structural disconnects fueling food insecurity for a billion people and disproportionately affecting women children and rural food producers the separation of women s rights from their right to adequate food and nutrition and the fragmented attention to food as commodity and the medicalization of nutritional health Three conditions arising from these disconnects are discussed structural violence and discrimination frustrating the realization of women s human rights as well as their private and public contributions to food and nutrition security for all many women s experience of their and their children s simultaneously independent and intertwined subjectivities during pregnancy and breastfeeding being poorly understood in human rights law and abused by poorly regulated food and nutrition industry marketing practices and the neoliberal economic system s interference both with the autonomy and self determination of women and their communities and with the strengthening of sustainable diets based on democratically governed local food systems The book calls for a social movement led reconceptualization of the right to adequate food toward incorporating gender women s rights and nutrition based on the food sovereignty framework
