The Singing of the Strasbourg Protestants, 1523-1541 Dr Daniel Trocmé-Latter, 2015-05-28. Drawing upon a range of sources, this book explores the part played by music, especially group singing, in the unfolding of the Protestant Reformation in Strasbourg. It considers both ecclesiastical and popular songs in the city, examining how both genres fitted into people's lives during this time of strife and how the provision and dissemination of music as a whole affected and in turn was affected by the new ecclesiastical arrangement The European Strasbourg Register 1994 Christian De Fouloy,1994-11-21 The European Strasbourg Register offers the reader a complete survey of all Strasbourg based organizations with a European dimension Strasbourg is not presented as a competitive site to Brussels but rather as a city with a distinct focus and definite role to play in the construction of Europe The geostrategic location of Strasbourg is of paramount importance in bridging Northern and Southern Europe as well as in linking West and East The presence in Strasbourg of such institutions as the European Parliament the Council of Europe and the European Court of Human Rights coupled with the outstanding education and research facilities the city offers accounts for Strasbourg's popularity among the international business and academic community Part One of The European Strasbourg Register contains in depth articles by a number of leading personalities Part Two provides a comprehensive practical and highly detailed review of Strasbourg based organizations with a European dimension including intergovernmental organizations such as the European Parliament as well as non governmental organizations education and training institutions trans border cooperation associations permanent foreign representatives and accredited press agencies Thus this volume constitutes a unique and indispensable tool for diplomats journalists lawyers national and international civil servants businessmen lobbyists researchers and all those interested in European institutions and public affairs Ruling Class, regime and Reformation at Strasbourg
