Chilton's Specifications & Maintenance Intervals 1995-1999 Chilton Book Company,1999 Specification and Design Methodology for Real-Time Embedded Systems Randall S. Janka,2012-12-06 Specification and design methodology has seen significant growth as a research area over the last decade tracking but lagging behind VLSI design technology in general and the CAD industry in particular The commercial rush to market tries to leverage existing technology which fuels CAD design tool development Paralleling this is very active basic and applied research to investigate and move forward rational and effective methodologies for accomplishing digital design especially in the field of hardware software codesign It is this close relationship between industry and academia that makes close cooperation between researchers and practitioners so important and monographs like this that combine both abstract concept and pragmatic implementation deftly bridge this often gaping chasm It was at the IEEE ACM Eighth International Symposium on Hardware Software Codesign where I met the author of this monograph Dr Randall Janka who was presenting some of his recent dissertation research results on specification and design methodology or as he has so succinctly defined this sometimes ambiguous concept the tools and rules Where so many codesign researchers are trying to prove out different aspects of codesign and using toy applications to do so Dr Janka had developed a complete specification and design methodology and prototyped the infrastructure and proven its viability utility and effectiveness using a demanding real world application of a real time synthetic aperture radar imaging processor that was implemented with embedded parallel processors Military aircraft DOD needs to determine its aerial refueling aircraft requirements : report to congressional requesters. , World Automotive Market Report ,2001 Performance measurement of workplace change Chaiwat Riratanaphong, TU Delft, Architecture and the Built Environment,2013-12-23 Nowadays organisations must cope with the pressure of cost reduction and efficiency in order to succeed in a highly competitive business environment However drivers to improve social interaction and employee s performance and as such to contribute to organisational goals and objectives make it necessary to be concerned with other performance criteria as well such as effectiveness flexibility employee satisfaction productivity and creativity There is a growing need for performance management and performance measurement that not only covers all aspects of an organisation but which can be applied to various situations in a changing internal and external environment Performance measurement methods which include an integrated perspective of performance have become essential In addition it has been realised that corporate real estate can contribute to organisational performance Nourse and Roulac 1993 De Vries et al 2008 Lindholm 2008 Den Heijer 2011 Jensen et al 2012 For this reason worldwide organisations started to implement new ways of working in a more open and flexible work environment Although there are various objectives and drivers of workplace change the common objectives are to reduce costs and to increase efficiency The changing organisational and external contexts such as the increasing demand for talented knowledge workers and changing work patterns have led to the development of new offices that can promote social networks and interaction among employees The new workplace does not only aim at achieving cost efficiency but it should also support employee satisfaction and productivity This PhD research focuses on both themes i e performance measurement of workplace change The aim of this research is to provide a conceptual framework that visualises the impact of workplace change on employees responses to the new work environment and to present guidelines on performance measurement of workplace change in different contexts Two organisations in Thailand and one organisation in The Netherlands were selected to serve as case studies The impact of culture was explored as a contextual background
