Set Adrift Upon the World

James Hunter,2015-10-15 Winner of Saltire Scottish History Book of the Year 2016 They would be better dead they said than set adrift upon the world But set adrift they were thousands of them their communities destroyed their homes demolished and burned Such were the Sutherland Clearances an extraordinary episode involving the deliberate depopulation of much of a Scottish county What was done in the course of that episode was planned and carried out by a small group of men and one woman Most of those involved wrote a great deal about their actions intentions and feelings and much of it has been preserved There are no equivalent collections of material from those whose communities ceased to exist Their feelings and fears are harder to access but they are by no means irrecoverable In this book James Hunter tells the story of the Sutherland Clearances His researches took him to archives in Scotland England and Canada to the now deserted straths of Sutherland to the frozen shores of Hudson Bay The result is a gripping moving definitive account of a people s struggle for survival in the face of tragedy and disaster which includes experiences which have not featured in any previous such account

It is truly the land of the Mountain and the Flood where land and sea mingle in unsurpassed glory. From the pier head at Ullapool to the Smoo Caves at Durness and from Dornoch Cathedral to Dounreay Nuclear Establishment, Tom Atkinson describes it all with his usual deep love for the land and its people.
