CREDITORS a tragic comedy shows a naturalistic rather ironic view of the corrosive effects of passion CRIME AND CRIME a comedy where Strindberg further develops the Swedenborgian view that crime is its own punishment something of a psychological thriller DANCE OF DEATH a drama in two parts where a Captain returns after fifteen years abroad divorced and robbed of his children The wife is blamed for the disastrous marriage SWANWHITE a fairy play in three acts it is a treasure chest full of the truth that lies in fairy tales and brimful of magic and romance THE GREAT HIGHWAY a wayfaring drama with seven stations is full of symbolism and imagery the higher emotional moods are expressed in unrhymed verse while the scenes in which he satirizes society its institutions and its successful men are written in witty colloquial dialogue

The Cambridge Companion to August Strindberg Michael Robinson, 2009-09-24 August Strindberg is one of the most enduring of nineteenth century dramatists and is also an internationally recognised novelist autobiographer and painter This Companion presents contributions by leading international scholars on different aspects of Strindberg's highly colourful life and work The essays focus primarily on his most celebrated plays these include the Naturalist Dramas The Father and Miss Julie the experimental dramas with which he created a true modernist theatre To Damascus and A Dream Play and the Chamber Plays of 1908 which like so much of his work exerted a powerful influence on much later twentieth century drama His plays are contextualised for what they contribute both to the history of drama and developments in theatre practice and other essays clarify the enormous importance to these dramas of his other work most notably the autobiographical novel Inferno and his lifelong interest in science the occult sexual politics and the visual arts

Art, Vision, and Nineteenth-Century Realist Drama Amy Holzapfel, 2014-01-03 Realism in theatre is traditionally defined as a mere seed of modernism a crude attempt to reproduce an exact copy of reality on stage Art Vision Nineteenth Century Realist Drama redefines realism as a complex and under examined form of visual modernism one that positioned theatre at the crux of the encounter between consciousness and the visible world Tracing a historical continuum of acts of seeing on the realist stage Holzapfel demonstrates how theatre participated in modernity's aggressive interrogation of vision's residence in the human body. New findings by scientists and philosophers such as Diderot, Goethe, Müller, Helmholtz and Galton exposed how the visible world is experienced and framed by the unstable relativism of the physiological body rather than the fixed idealism of the mind. Realist artists across media paradoxically embraced this paradigm shift by focusing on the embodied observer. Drawing from extensive archival research, Holzapfel conducts close readings of iconic dramas and their productions including Scribe's The Glass of Water, Zola's Thérèse Raquin, Ibsen's A Doll House, Strindberg's The Father and Hauptmann's Before Sunrise alongside analyses of artwork by major painters and photographers such as Chardin, Nadar, Millais, Rejlander and Liebermann. In a radical challenge to existing criticism, Holzapfel argues that realism in theatre was never the attempt to reproduce an exact copy of the seen world but rather the struggle to make visible the act of seeing.

Six Plays of Strindberg August Strindberg, 1955 The Father, Miss Julie, The Stronger, Easter, A Dream Play, The Ghost Sonata. Five Plays of Strindberg August Strindberg, 1960 The Oxford Guide to Literature in English Translation Peter France, 2000. Translation has been a crucial process in world culture over the past two millennia and more. In the English-speaking cultures many of the most important texts are translations from Homer to Beckett, the Bible to Freud. Although recent years have seen a boom in translation studies, there has been no comprehensive yet convenient guide to this essential element of literature in English. Written by eminent scholars from many countries, the Oxford Guide to Literature in English Translation meets this need and will be essential reading for all students of English and comparative literature. It highlights the place of translation in our culture, encouraging awareness of the issues raised, making the translator more visible. Concentrating on major writers and works, it covers translations out of many languages from Greek to Korean, from Swahili to Russian. For some works, e.g. Virgil's Aeneid, which have been much translated, the discussion is historical and critical, showing how translation has evolved over the centuries and bringing out the differences between versions. Elsewhere, with less familiar literatures, the Guide examines the extent to which translation has done justice to the range of work available. The Guide is divided into two parts. Part I contains substantial essays on theoretical questions, a pioneering outline of the history of translation into English and discussions of the problems raised by specific types of text, e.g. poetry, oral literature. The second, much longer part consists of entries grouped by language of origin; some are devoted to individual texts, e.g. The Thousand and One Nights, or writers, e.g. Ibsen, Proust, but the majority offer a critical overview of a genre, e.g. Chinese poetry, Spanish Golden Age drama, or of a national literature, e.g. Hungarian, Scottish Gaelic. There is a selective bibliography for each entry and an index of authors and translators. Seven Plays by August Strindberg, 1960 An International Annotated Bibliography of Strindberg Studies 1870-2005: General studies Michael Robinson, 2008. This copiously annotated bibliography documents and examines the whole range of commentary on Strindberg's works and activity in many fields besides the plays for which he is internationally best known. These include his prose fiction and poetry, his work as an historian and natural historian and his relationship to the other arts, most notably his painting. It is concerned with both

lasting works of literary and dramatic criticism as well as reviews of his books and plays in the theatre and some more ephemeral material all of this in several languages Organised generically and by subject and individual work the bibliography enables the reader to trace the changing impact of Strindberg and his works in various countries and during different periods It is thus very much a study in reception as well as a bibliographical record of published material It traces the developing image of Strindberg and his writing both during his lifetime and in subsequent years and with frequent cross reference offers a comprehensive overview of a literary and existential project that has rarely been matched for its multifaceted diversity The bibliography is published in three parts Volume 2 The Plays 978 0 947623 82 1 and Volume 3 Prose Poetry Miscellaneous 978 0 947623 83 8 are also now available Michael Robinson is Emeritus Professor of Drama and Scandinavian Studies at the University of East Anglia Norwich
