Currents of Tradition in Chinese Medicine, 1626-2006 Volker Scheid, 2007 During the 1950s and 1960s the heirs of Menghe medicine were key players in creating the institutional framework for contemporary Chinese medicine Their students are now practicing all over the world shaping Chinese medicine in Los Angeles New York Oxford Mallorca and Berlin The history of the Menghe current is relevant to anyone interested in the development of Chinese medicine in late imperial and modern China This book traces Chinese medical history along the currents created by generations of physicians linked to each other by a shared heritage of learning by descent and kinship by sentiments of native place as well as nationalist fervor by personal rivalries and economic competition by the struggle for the survival of tradition and glorious visions of a new global medicine On the level of both theory and practice this history marks a departure from the focus on texts and ideas that has dominated Western engagement with Chinese medicine to date Its goal is to locate medicine within the concrete lives of physicians and their patients restoring an agency to their actions that easily gets lost in our search for the forces or structures that shape historical process To this end the author interweaves social history and medical case studies ethnography and biography to narrate a story of Chinese medicine that is very different from any that has been told before
