The Dialectics Of Seeing Walter Benjamin And The Arcades Project:

The Dialectics of Seeing Susan Buck-Morss, 1991-07-01 Walter Benjamin's magnum opus was a book he did not live to write. In The Dialectics of Seeing Susan Buck Morss offers an inventive reconstruction of the Passagen Werk or Arcades Project as it might have taken form. Working with Benjamin's vast files of citations and commentary which contain a myriad of historical details from the dawn of consumer culture, Buck Morss makes visible the conceptual structure that gives these fragments philosophical coherence. She uses images throughout the book to demonstrate that Benjamin took the debris of mass culture seriously as the source of philosophical truth. The Paris Arcades that so fascinated Benjamin as they did the Surrealists whose materialist metaphysics he admired were the prototype the 19th century ur form of the modern shopping mall. Benjamin's dialectics of seeing demonstrate how to read these consumer dream houses and so many other material objects of the time from air balloons to women's fashions from Baudelaire's poetry to Grandville's cartoons as anticipations of social utopia and simultaneously as clues for a radical political critique. Buck Morss plots Benjamin's intellectual orientation on axes running east and west, north and south: Moscow, Paris, Berlin, Naples and shows how such thinking in coordinates can explain his understanding of dialectics at a standstill. She argues for the continuing relevance of Benjamin's insights but then allows a set of afterimages to have the last word.

Residual Media Charles R. Acland, 2007 In a society that awaits the new in every medium what happens to last year's new? From player pianos to vinyl records and from the typewriter to the telephone, Residual Media is an innovative approach to the aging of culture and reveals that ultimately new cultural phenomena rely on encounters with the old.

Law and the Utopian Imagination Austin Sarat, Lawrence Douglas, Martha Merrill Umphrey, 2014-05-21 Law and the Utopian Imagination seeks to explore and resuscitate the notion of utopianism within current legal discourse. The idea of utopia has fascinated the imaginations of important thinkers for ages. And yet who writes seriously on the idea of utopia today? The mid century critique appears to have carried the day and a belief in the very possibility of utopian achievements appears to have flagged in the face of a world marked by political instability, social upheaval and dreary market realities. Instead of mapping out the contours of a familiar terrain this book seeks to explore the possibilities of a productive engagement between the utopian and the legal imagination. The book asks: is it possible to re-imagine or revitalize the concept of utopia such that it can survive the terms of the mid century liberal critique? Alternatively, is it possible to re-imagine the concept of utopia and the theory of liberal legality so as to dissolve the apparent antagonism between the two? In charting possible answers to these questions the present volume hopes to revive interest in a vital topic of inquiry too long neglected by both social thinkers and legal scholars.

The Emergence of the Interior Charles Rice, 2006-11-22 Taking a radical position counter to many previous histories and theories of the interior, domesticity and the home, The Emergence of the Interior considers how the concept and experience of the domestic interior have been formed from the beginning of the nineteenth century. It considers the interior's emergence in relation to the thinking of Walter

Benjamin and Sigmund Freud and through case studies in architecture s trajectories toward modernism The book argues that the interior emerged with a sense of doubleness being understood and experienced as both a spatial and an image based condition Incorporating perspectives from architecture critical history and theory and psychoanalysis The Emergence of the Interior will be of interest to academics and students of the history and theory of architecture and design social history and cultural studies

Mythistory Joseph Mali,2003-05 Ever since Herodotus declared in Histories that to preserve the memories of the great achievements of the Greeks and other nations he would count on their own stories historians have debated whether and how they should deal with myth Most have sided with Thucydides who denounced myth as unscientific and banished it from historiography In Mythistory Joseph Mali revives this oldest controversy in historiography Contesting the conventional opposition between myth and history Mali advocates instead for a historiography that reconciles the two and recognizes the crucial role that myth plays in the construction of personal and communal identities The task of historiography he argues is to illuminate not eliminate these fictions by showing how they have passed into and shaped historical reality Drawing on the works of modern theorists and artists of myth such as Nietzsche and Wittgenstein Joyce and Eliot Mali redefines modern historiography and relates it to the older notion and tradition of mythistory Tracing the origins and transformations of this historiographical tradition from the ancient world to the modern Mali shows how Livy and Machiavelli sought to recover true history from uncertain myth and how Vico and Michelet then reversed this pattern of inquiry seeking instead to recover a deeper and truer myth from uncertain history In the heart of Mythistory Mali turns his attention to four thinkers who rediscovered myth in and for modern cultural history Jacob Burckhardt Aby Warburg Ernst Kantorowicz and Walter Benjamin His elaboration of the different biographical and historiographical routes by which all four sought to account for the persistence and significance of myth in Western civilization opens up new perspectives for an alternative intellectual history of modernity one that may better explain the proliferation of mythic imageries of redemption in our secular all too secular times

Commodified Communion Antonio Eduardo Alonso,2021-06-01 WINNER 2021 HTI BOOK PRIZE Resist This exhortation animates a remarkable range of theological reflection on consumer culture in the United States And for many theologians the source and summit of Christian cultural resistance is the Eucharist In Commodified Communion Antonio Eduardo Alonso calls into question this dominant mode of theological reflection on contemporary consumerism Reducing the work of theology to resistance and centering Christian hope in a Eucharist that might better support it he argues undermines our ability to talk about the activity of God within a consumer culture By reframing the question in terms of God s activity in and in spite of consumer culture this book offers a lived theological account of consumer culture that recognizes not only its deceptions but also traces of truth in its broken promises and fallen hopes

ISpy Mark Andrejevic,2007 A chilling account of the tradeoff we are willing to make between interactive media technologies and the power of others to watch over and control us This brave new world of electronic marketing and consumption actually lulls consumers into blissful ignorance of how that usage can be and is being monitored Visions of Violence Richard Langston,2008 Nazi Germany s campaign against degenerate art and its persecution of experimental artists pushed the avant garde in Germany to the brink of extinction This book examines how the avant garde came back after the war reconfiguring its aesthetics in the light of those years New Essays on the Frankfurt School of Critical Theory

Literary Texts the Arts s sixteen essays explore numerous aspects of both the theoretical and applied relationships between textuality in the form of novels plays and poems and visuality in the form of the photographic artistic or cinematic image Topics range from the linguistic and artistic attempts to express the inexpressible or the transcendent in notions of the sublime where the essence of phenomena eludes the communicative and epistemological capacity of words and images to postmodern representations of time and cinematic adaptations of literary texts The photographic image is also examined as autonomous language that stands in opposition to the verbal and the written text and as a complementary mode that shares some communicative structures and modalities with the word while not being reducible to it The thread that runs through all of the essays is the assertion of the constructive or power of the word spoken recited written and the image representational mimetic nonrepresentational to create meanings as well as the implication that somehow that capacity is partial because it is limited by the inherent nature of the means of expression      SAE Bulletin ,1991      Nan Nü ,2004      Dialectical Immaterialism Paul Jakob Burgin,1996      Journal of the Society of Architectural Historians Society of Architectural Historians,1999 Includes special issues      Xcp ,2006
