The Devil's Footsteps E E Richardson,2010-08-03 It was just a bit of fun a local legend The Devil's Footsteps thirteen stepping stones and whichever one you stopped on in the rhyme could predict how you would die A harmless game for kids and nobody ever died from a game But it's not a game to Bryan He's seen the Dark Man because the Dark Man took his brother five years ago He's tried to tell himself that it was his imagination that the Devil's Footsteps are just stones and the Dark Man didn't take Adam But Adam's still gone And then Bryan meets two other boys who have their own unsolved mysteries Someone or something is after the children in the town And it all comes back to the rhyme that every local child knows by heart Thirteen steps to the Dark Man's door Won't be turning back no more

But why Turkish asked Mr Sherlock Holmes gazing fixedly at my boots I was reclining in a cane backed chair at the moment and my protruded feet had attracted his ever active attention English I answered in some surprise I got them at Latimer's in Oxford Street Holmes smiled with an expression of weary patience The bath he said the bath Why the relaxing and expensive Turkish rather than the invigorating home made article Because for the last few days I have been feeling rheumatic and old A Turkish bath is what we call an alterative in medicine a fresh starting point a cleanser of the system By the way Holmes I added I have no doubt the connection between my boots and a Turkish bath is a perfectly self evident one to a logical mind and yet I should be obliged to you if you would indicate it The train of reasoning is not very obscure Watson said Holmes with a mischievous twinkle It belongs to the same elementary class of deduction which I should illustrate if I were to ask you who shared your cab in your drive this morning
