Teens in South Africa David Seidman, 2008-07 A look at world geography and contemporary culture from the perspective of young people The Politics and Governance of Basic Education Brian Levy, Robert Cameron, Ursula Hoadley, Vinothan Naidoo, 2018-08-24 This is an open access title available under the terms of a CC BY NC ND 4.0 International licence It is free to read at Oxford Scholarship Online and offered as a free PDF download from OUP and selected open access locations All over the world economic inclusion has risen to the top of the development discourse A well performing education system is central to achieving inclusive development but the challenge of improving educational outcomes has proven to be unexpectedly difficult Access to education has increased but quality remains low with weaknesses in governance comprising an important part of the explanation The Politics and Governance of Basic Education explores the balance between hierarchical and horizontal institutional arrangements for the public provision of basic education Using the vivid example of South Africa a country that had ambitious goals at the outset of its transition from apartheid to democracy it explores how the interaction of politics and institutions affects educational outcomes By examining lessons learned from how South Africa failed to achieve many of its goals it constructs an innovative alternative strategy for making process combining practical steps to achieve incremental gains to re orient the system towards learning Annual Report Mpumalanga (South Africa). Department of Education, 2016 Structural Change in Transportation and Communications in the Knowledge Society Kiyoshi Kobayashi, T. R. Lakshmanan, William Peter Anderson, 2006-12-21 The transformation of the world economy from a system of nations trading materials intensive goods to a system of seamless global networks for information intensive goods and services has created the need for a comprehensive restructuring of transportation and communications activities The contributors transportation and communications analysts from Japan and the United States address this restructuring from a variety of perspectives ranging from theoretical treatments of the role of information in the economy to applications of communications technologies for the collection of travel data The authors transcend traditional methods of transportation and communication analysis in order to address emerging issues that are not well represented by the prevailing cost benefit framework Many draw from advances in social sciences such as game theory that recognize the interdependence of human decision making New ways of assessing the economic benefit of infrastructure and the evolving role of institutions in the information economy are demonstrated along with novel approaches to analyzing human mobility and interaction in a knowledge rich environment By moving beyond traditional forms of analysis that were better suited to an earlier time the chapters in this book provide a wealth of insights for policy formulation in the globalized knowledge economy This comprehensive volume will be of great value to regional scientists and economic geographers as well as civil engineers economists and analysts interested in transportation and communications South Africa Survey, 2009 Independent Schooling in Post-apartheid South Africa Jacques Du Toit, 2004 This paper presents a quantitative overview of the current

South African independent schooling sector Historically research on the sector has been partial resulting in questions about its current size and profile A recent survey revealed that the sector has grown considerably since the nineties and that official sources underestimate its size Some popular myths about the sector being largely white and elitist are dispelled by the study which shows that historically disadvantaged learners currently constitute more than 70% of all learners and that more than 50% of all schools charge low to average fees However there is also evidence of new forms of inequity emerging and poor performance in parts of the independent sector of which roleplayers in the sector should be aware HSRC website
