Svendsen,James Connolly,2015-02-11 Once considered the antithesis of a verdant and vibrant ecosystem cities are now being hailed as highly efficient and complex social ecological systems Emerging from the streets of the post industrial city are well tended community gardens rooftop farms and other viable habitats capable of supporting native flora and fauna At the forefront of this transformation are the citizens living in the cities themselves As people around the world increasingly relocate to urban areas this book discusses how they engage in urban stewardship and what civic participation in the environment means for democracy Drawing on data collected through a two year study of volunteer stewards who planted trees as part of the MillionTreesNYC initiative in the United States this book examines how projects like this can make a difference to the social fabric of a city It analyses quantitative survey data along with qualitative interview data that enables the volunteers to share their personal stories and motivations for participating revealing the strong link between environmental stewardship and civic engagement As city governments in developed countries are investing more and more in green infrastructure campaigns to change the urban landscape this book sheds light on the social importance of these initiatives and shows how individuals efforts to reshape their cities serve to strengthen democracy It draws out lessons that are highly applicable to global cities and policies on sustainability and civic engagement What is Urban Environmental Stewardship? Michele Romolini,2012 Constructing a framework to convey the layered meanings of stewardship will help to focus and guide future research A cognitive mapping technique was used to elicit responses to the question What is environmental stewardship Semistructured interviews were conducted with representatives of nine Seattle environmental organizations a group of practitioners who collectively represent over 100 years of experience in the field Program planners and managers have particularly direct experiences of stewardship Cognitive mapping enables participants to explore then display their particular knowledge and perceptions about an idea or activity Analysis generated thematic structural representations of shared concepts Results show that the practitioners have multilayered perceptions of stewardship from environmental improvement to community building and from actions to outcomes Ecological Stewardship Robert C.

A Green and Permanent Land

Randal S. Beeman,James A. Pritchard,2001 Once patronized primarily by the counterculture and the health food establishment the organic food industry today is a multi billion dollar business driven by ever growing consumer demand for safe food and greater public awareness of ecological issues Assumed by many to be a recent phenomenon that industry owes much to agricultural innovations that go back to the Dust Bowl era This book explores the roots and branches of alternative agricultural ideas in twentieth century America showing how ecological thought has challenged and changed agricultural theory practice and policy from the 1930s to the present It introduces us to the people and institutions who forged alternatives to industrialized agriculture through a deep concern for the enduring fertility of the soil a passionate commitment to human health and a strong advocacy of economic justice for farmers Randal Beeman and James Pritchard show that agricultural issues were central to the rise of the environmental movement in the United States As family farms failed during the Depression a new kind of agriculture was championed based on the holistic approach taught by the emerging science of ecology Ecology influenced the permanent agriculture movement that advocated such radical concepts as long term land use planning comprehensive soil conservation and organic farming Then in the 1970s sustainable agriculture combined many of these ideas with new concerns about misguided technology and an over consumptive culture to preach a more sensible approach to farming In chronicling the overlooked history of alternative agriculture A Green and Permanent Land records the significant contributions of individuals like Rex Tugwell Hugh Bennett Louis Bromfield Edward Faulkner Russell and Kate Lord Scott and Helen Nearing Robert Rodale Wes Jackson and groups like Friends of the Land and the Practical Farmers of Iowa And by demonstrating how agriculture also remains central to the public interest especially in the face of climatic crises genetically altered crops and questionable uses of pesticides this book puts these issues in historical perspective and offers readers considerable food for thought

Enhancing Global Competitiveness Through Sustainable Environmental Stewardship Subhash C. Jain, Ben L. Kedia, 2011-01-01 It is apparent that environmental issues affect the livelihoods and well being of individuals communities and businesses the world over In that vein this book examines the impact that climate change and other environmental factors have on business The effect of climate change while a significant factor will influence business slowly but inexorably Executives should manage environmental risk at three levels regulatory compliance potential liability from industrial accidents and pollutant release mitigation Companies that are proactive in mitigating their exposure to climate change risks will not only generate new profitable opportunities but also gain competitive advantage over their rivals in a carbon constrained future Enhancing Global Competitiveness through Sustainable Environmental Stewardship provides frameworks for identifying how climate change might affect a business and suggests strategy guidelines to manage the risks and seek opportunities This seminal collection of research will be of particular interest to students and scholars of sustainability studies business and management and business professionals concerned with the role they will play in the changing and challenging times that lie ahead for business growth and environmental consciousness
