Teaching Composition with the Prentice Hall Guide for College Writers. Resource Manual with Background Readings Stephen Reid, 1998 Supplementary Essays for College Writers Gary D. Schmidt, 1988-12 Writing, Reading, and Understanding in Modern Health Sciences Milos Jenicek, 2017-07-27

Medical articles are one of the main vehicles of knowledge translation and evidence communication in the health sciences. Their correct structure and style alone are no longer enough to convey a clear understanding of the intended message. Readers must be able to understand the very essence of the article message. That is the purpose of this book. Writing, Reading and Understanding in Modern Health Sciences: Medical Articles and Other Forms of Communication will help the authors of medical articles communicate more effectively in today's practice and health research environment. It explores the most effective practices for communicating using three main medical literature formats through scientific articles, articles where the subject is not based on the practice of the scientific method, and business reports. Describing how to think beyond the prevailing IMRAD article format, this book focuses on the nature, content, domains of thought, and meanings of medical articles. The ideas and underlying propositions in this book are complementary to specific requirements appropriate for each type of medical journal. After reading this book, you will better understand how to write what is considered the most important type of medical article: the research-based medical article. How to write an evidence-based argumentative medical article. The challenges of clinical case reporting. The general framework of medical and research ethics. Classification of medical articles and their underlying studies from the causal standpoint. Supplying you with the understanding required to write more effective medical articles, the book includes details about essay-type articles, research-based articles, thesis as introduction sections, definitions as part of the material and methods sections, modern argumentation and critical thinking, underlying results and their discussion, and conclusions about them.

The Prentice Hall Guide for College Writers Stephen Reid, 1999-08

Practicing psychologists as well as interns and graduate students in psychology need a broad array of diagnostic techniques and clinical assessment skills for successful practice in medical and surgical hospital settings. A first of its kind text, Psychological Assessment in Medical Settings, discusses scientifically valid assessment approaches with 41 case studies that illuminate a variety of issues and techniques and detailed practical guidelines for clinicians. The authors untangle the complexities of today's intense healthcare market in which psychologists must possess a comprehensive knowledge of scientifically valid diagnostic techniques and acute skill in directing patients to the appropriate care site. Their hands-on guidebook equips professionals with skills to enhance their practice through use of accurate clinical assessment tools that can also be used to document treatment effectiveness.

How to Think in Medicine Milos Jenicek, 2018-08-06

Mastery of quality health care and patient safety begins as soon as we open the hospital doors for the first time and start acquiring practical experience. The acquisition of such experience includes much more than the development of sensorimotor skills and basic knowledge of sciences. It relies on effective reason decision making and communication shared by all health professionals including physicians nurses dentists pharmacists and administrators How to Think in Medicine Reasoning Decision Making and Communications in Health Sciences is about these essential skills It describes how physicians and health professionals reason make decision and practice medicine Covering the basic considerations related to clinical and caregiver reasoning it lays out a roadmap to help those new to health care as well as seasoned veterans overcome the complexities of working for the well being of those who trust us with their physical and mental health This book provides a step by step breakdown of the reasoning process for clinical work and clinical care It examines both the general and medical ways of thinking reasoning argumentation fact finding and using evidence It explores the principles of formal logic as applied to clinical problems and the use of evidence in logical reasoning In addition to outline the fundamentals of decision making it integrates coverage of clinical reasoning risk assessment diagnosis treatment and prognosis in evidence based medicine Presented in four sections this book discusses the history and position of the problem and the challenge of medical thinking provides the philosophy interfacing topics of interest for health sciences professionals including the probabilities uncertainties risks and other quantifications in health by steps of clinical work decision making in clinical and community health care research and practice Communication in clinical and community care including how to write medical articles clinical case studies and case reporting and oral and written communication in clinical and community practice and care Resources in Education ,1998 Prentice Hall Choices in Literature ,1997 The Prentice Hall Choices in Literature is a balanced integrated approach to language arts Using literature as a base the program develops students capacities to read write speak and listen and helps them to connect literature to other content areas At the same time it fosters habits of critical thinking aesthetic appreciation and cooperative interaction Page T13 The Prentice Hall Reader George Miller,2006-03 The Prentice Hall Reader is an outstanding teaching and learning tool and is key to success in high school and AP classes it will help students think read and write clearly in high school college and beyond Back cover Steps in composition : instructor's resource book ,1990 English/language Arts Curriculum Resource Handbook ,1992 Write Better Essays in Just 20 Minutes a Day Elizabeth L.
